Bachelor Beatle Married to Tune Of Howling Girls

LONDON (AP) — Paul McCartney, the last bachelor Beatle, married a blonde American divorcee in a civil ceremony today, pushed his way through 50 screaming girls and said, "I feel fine."

The new Mrs. McCartney, who is 27, appeared bewildered and frightened as teen-age girls surged around her, screaming, "Paul! Paul!" She carried Heather, her 6-year-old daughter by a previous marriage.

Miss Eastman is a photographer and a daughter of a New York lawyer.

Many of the bridegroom's young female admirers sobbed and clutched bouquets as they broke away from 250 other spectators and pushed through a police line to McCartney and his bride coming down the registry office steps.

Schirra Quits Space Corps For Business

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Walter M. Schirra Jr., colorful dean of U.S. astronauts — he's 46 today — is leaving the space program to become a company president.

On the eve of his birthday, the boyish sports car buff announced Tuesday he will enter private business as head of a firm that leases out industrial equipment worldwide.

In his new job he hopes to help develop a space station to be parked in orbit in about 1975.

He views it as a way to "Explore the Earth as it should be explored," seeking out its mineral deposits and other natural resources from high in the sky.

After 27 years of government service, including nearly a decade in the U.S. space effort, Schirra, a Navy captain, said it wasn't easy to go.

He is the oldest astronaut, one of the original seven, and one of only two astronauts to fly three times in space. He found it "very traumatic for both Jo, my wife, and me to face up to the fact that we're going to leave."

The new step in his career will take him to the helm of Regency Corp. of Denver, Colo., a wholly owned subsidiary of the Colorado Corp., which leases such things as aircraft, ships, oil well drilling rigs, plant machinery and other industrial equipment.

Weather Forces Extra Orbit for 3 Astronauts

Splashdown Thursday Morning

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Although eager to come home, the Apollo 9 astronauts today enthusiastically approved staying in space an extra orbit Thursday to escape a rough landing in storm-lashed seas southwest of Bermuda.

"Hey, let's go there," Apollo 9 commander James A. McDivitt exclaimed when informed of the excellent weather forecast in the new landing area near Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas.

That is 480 miles south of the wind-whipped original splashdown zone where McDivitt, David R. Scott and Russell L.

Schweickart would have had a rough reception.

The extra circuit of the globe will extend their time in space by about 100 minutes and increase the total length of the mission to just over 10 days.

The new landing time will be 11:01 a.m. CST.

This was the second time that a U.S. man-in-space landing has been altered by bad weather. In 1965, Gemini 5 pilots L. Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad Jr. landed one orbit early to avoid an Atlantic hurricane.

Leisurely Day
McDivitt, Scott and Schweickart enjoyed a leisurely final full day in space, taking pictures, monitoring spaceship systems and preparing for homecoming to climax a flight that advanced the United States closer to a man-to-the-moon landing next summer.

Before making the decision, flight director Eugene Kranz weighed such things as how fast the recovery ship, the carrier Guadalcanal, could reach the new touchdown point, tracking facilities for the new re-entry track, and where Apollo 9 would land if its retro-rocket failed to fire and if it had to make emergency use of jet controls to come home an orbit or two later.

When astronaut Stuart Roosa, the capsule communicator, reported the forecast for the Bermuda area was "grim"—10 miles visibility, 23 knot winds, waves six to eight feet and swells 10 to 12 feet, McDivitt commented: "Visibility's good."

"Let's Go There"
Hearing that the prediction for the Grand Turk area for Thursday was 10 miles visibility, winds light and variable,

Aldrin First?

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A space agency official says astronaut Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin Jr. probably will be the first man to step onto the surface of the moon.

But Dr. John W. Small, chief of the space agency's lunar surface projects office, said plans still could be changed before the Apollo 11 flight this summer.

The other astronaut who could step first on the moon is civilian Neil Armstrong. He and Aldrin, an Air Force colonel, will fly in the lunar module to the moon's surface.

The third crew member, Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins, will remain behind piloting the command module as it orbits the moon.

waves two to three feet and swells six to seven feet, the Apollo 9 commander exclaimed: "Hey, let's go there! Let's go there!"

Later, with the Guadalcanal reporting 14 foot swells and 2,000 foot visibility, McDivitt said: "I don't think anybody up here is a good enough sailor for that."

"Roger, we agree down here too," Roosa said.

McDivitt inquired whether the Guadalcanal could reach the backup landing zone and was told that it was only 16 hours away and could easily make it.

"We need that cake," joked Scott, referring to a 350-pound cake that the Guadalcanal has waiting for Apollo 9's return.

The Guadalcanal, which has been riding out the storm for several days, steamed Monday to a central position, ready to

Downed Near Border

4 Pilots Freed By Cambodia

BANGKOK (AP) — Four American fliers captured in Cambodia a month ago were returned to freedom today as the result of a letter from President Nixon to ruling Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia.

The four U.S. Army men were identified as Maj. Querin Herlik of Savannah, Ga.; C. W. O. Laird Osburn of Webster Springs, W. Va.; Spec. 5 John Fisher of Gainesville, Fla., and Spec. 5 Rob Pryor of Oak Ridge, Tenn. Herlik is a native of Green Bay, Wis.

Stationed in South Vietnam, they were captured on Feb. 12 after their L-19 observation plane was shot down near the border between Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The airmen were held in a Cambodian naval barracks, and Sihanouk asked President Nixon to write him a letter asking for their release. Cambodia's Khmer Press Agency said Nixon wrote the Cambodian chief of state on March 8.

Arrive in Bangkok
The prisoners were released to the Australian Embassy in Phnom Penh Tuesday and arrived in Bangkok today aboard a Burmese airliner.

The four men were given a quick medical check at the airport, vaccinated and put aboard a U.S. courier plane for Saigon.

"It's great to be back," said Herlik.

Herlik said their plane was hit by a shell.

"It was a big one," he said. "It hit the bottom side of the engine and knocked the carburetor out. In about 10 seconds the engines stopped."

Land in Rice Paddy
"We made our emergency radio calls, picked out an emergency landing area and landed the aircraft intact in a rice paddy."

The fliers, armed with two M16 rifles and two pistols, immediately got into a fight with Viet Cong units.

"We had a 30-minute fight with Viet Cong troops before we were captured," Herlik said.

Osburn, who had shrapnel wounds in the neck and body, was immediately handed over to Cambodian authorities. The other three were held prisoner for two days during which they stayed at two Viet Cong camps by day and marched at night.

"We walked about 16 hours and made about 48 miles," he said.

Herlik said he believed their location at that time was in Tay Ninh province, in South Vietnam.

Herlik said they received

One of Four Is Native of Green Bay

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — "Oh, that's great news!" exclaimed Mrs. Alvin Cielier, sister of Maj. Querin Herlik Jr., about news of his return to freedom today from Cambodia.

Herlik and three other American fliers, captured in Cambodia when their plane was shot down on Feb. 12, were freed as the result of a letter from President Nixon to Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia.

"I have been glued to the radio and television for two days," Mrs. Cielier said. "This is the best news we have had in a long time. We have been worried ever since his capture."

Herlik's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Querin Herlik Sr., moved from Green Bay to Eagle River five years ago. The only family members still in Green Bay are Mrs. Cielier and an aunt, Mrs. Edward Herlik.

Herlik's wife is the former Mary Jo Lemerond of De Pere. She now resides in Savannah, Ga., with their three children.

Born in Green Bay, Herlik is a graduate of Catholic Central (Premontre) High School and St. Norbert College. He was commissioned an Army second lieutenant on graduation from St. Norbert in 1955.

ABM Disclosure Possible

Nixon Goes on TV Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will discuss the antiballistic missile controversy with Republican and Democratic leaders of Congress Friday, then hold a television-radio news conference the same day.

The White House, announcing this today, would not say flatly that Nixon would be ready by Friday to disclose his decision on whether to deploy the hotly debated Sentinel antiballistic missile shield.

All that press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler would say was that Nixon still expects to announce a decision this week.

Obviously, the ABM controversy will figure prominently in the news conference, to be held at noon EST Friday in the East Room of the White House. And it was generally assumed Nixon would be prepared to announce his stand at that time.

The chief executive originally had planned to meet today with the National Security Council, but this session was postponed to Saturday.

Ziegler said Nixon put off the meeting so Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, who returns late tonight from South Vietnam, could prepare a report on his inspection tour of the war zone for the council.

Meets With Leaders
Ziegler said Vietnam would be "one of the key topics of interest" at the NSC meeting.

The bipartisan congressional leaders will meet with Nixon on the ABM at 8:30 a.m. EST Friday.

The President spent much of this morning discussing the same subject with security adviser Henry A. Kissinger and other staff aides.

The President will meet with Laird Thursday.

Ziegler was asked why Nixon had delayed announcement of an ABM decision, which the President originally had promised for earlier this week.

"I don't consider it really a delay," he said.

The press secretary said Nixon, at his news conference, would field questions on any subject.

Nixon told a news conference last Thursday he would announce a decision on the controversial Sentinel system the first of this week. But he delayed action after an intensive weekend review in Florida.

Enemy Takes a Break After 18 Days of Spring Offensive

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong's rocket and mortar attacks dropped off sharply today, but American officers said it might be only a pause in the enemy's 18-day-old spring offensive.

U.S. sources pointed out that the Communist command still has thousands of troops it has not committed to the offensive yet. They said a new wave of attacks could come any day and that the rest of this week is a critical period.

Allied spokesmen reported 20 rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases and towns during the night, compared to about 60 the night before. U.S. headquarters said casualties were light.

Five more ground fights Tuesday were reported, resulting in the deaths of 126 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and 10 Americans.

U.S. headquarters reported 76 men of the enemy were killed in said a spokesman for the U.S. 25th Infantry Division. "We abortive ambush of a 50-25th truck convoy 43 miles northwest of Saigon. Spokesmen said the only American casualties were, eight men wounded, and one truck loaded with beer was slightly damaged.

The North Vietnamese battalion guns and flame throwers reconnoitering the highway tried to spring the trap too soon or too late.

"We were laying for them," Dau Tieng.

The supply trucks, carrying ammunition and general cargo, were within three miles of Dau Tieng when the forward reconnaissance troops ran into the rear guard of the enemy lying in wait.

"They started a fire fight," said the 25th Division spokesman, "and the enemy's main ambush force got excited."

The American convoy was in three sections. One section already had passed the ambush site. Of the second section, all but the beer truck at the end had moved through.

A single enemy soldier ran onto the road and fired a rocket grenade at the truck.

"The third section of the convoy just barreled on through," the spokesman said, while the armored personnel carriers

Lawmakers Regret Putting Vocational Takeover to Vote

Worry About What to Do if State Financing, Control Is Okayed

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Suffering the pangs of second thoughts, lawmakers Tuesday worried about how to handle the potentially explosive problem of state financing of local vocational school costs.

And they received a proposal from the head of the State Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education on how to handle state financing while preserving some local control, if voters indicate this spring that is the route they wish followed.

Passed late last month by the 1969 Legislature was a resolution calling for an advisory referendum this spring on the state assumption of local vocational school costs.

It passed with only scattered opposition, and will confront state voters on April 1. It is expected to win overwhelming backing in the referendum balloting.

But it is potentially embarrassing for the financially-plagued Republican administration because of the tremendous costs entailed in the proposal.

The Senate was supposed to stop the measure, the legislative Joint Committee on Finance was told, but instead went along and voted for it as well.

"Everyone wanted to be heroes and to vote for something for the folks back home," said Assemblyman Kenneth Merkel, R-Brookfield, who voted against the resolution.

"The Senate was supposed to stop it. They are supposed to stop our bad stuff and we are supposed to stop their bad stuff when they want to be heroes."

Lawmakers are feeling heat from voters because of rising local property taxes caused by the new technical school districting law which was passed in 1965, and the effects of which started to be felt last year.

Senate Holds Up UW Regent Confirmation

State University System Appointments Also Delayed When Democrats Protest

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Republican-controlled State Senate Tuesday refused to take action on two appointments to the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents made by Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

"The Senate Republican caucus is not a rubber stamp for the governor," said Senate Majority Leader Ernest Keppler, R-Sheboygan. "As long as we have 'advise and consent' in our statutes we intend to do that," he told dissident Democrats.

"We intend to take them up when we are ready to," he told lawmakers pressing for consideration of the appointments of Mrs. Howard V. Sandin of Ashland and Gordon Walker of Racine.

The Senate had approved, by a vote of 24-2, the confirmation of the cases of 94 black students of state university regents John Dixon of Appleton and Norman Christiananson. When Keppler attempted to move to other state university regent appointments the 94 blacks, which had been tabled last month, Democrats protested.

State university system and UW regent nominations made by Knowles, had been delayed at Madison campus.

The Republican Senate caucus made by Knowles during the since that time has been calling legislative recess, carry with in UW regents and subjecting them power to act without them to what Keppler has senate confirmation.

Joseph Noll, the chairman of the state vocational board, said lawmakers had assured him that the resolution would not pass.

"I have some apprehension about how the voters will treat this," said Noll. "Any time you let the taxpayers make decisions about their own taxes, you can predict the answer."

State vocational system director Clarence Greiber has said that by the mid-1970s the cost of state operation of the school system could total about $70 million a year.

Looking at the April 1 voting, Greiber predicted an urban-rural split, with city residents backing local control of the schools and rural residents favoring state assumption because of the added property tax costs.

Noll said that the "minimum date" for any such state takeover would be July, 1971, because of organizational and administrative problems involved.

Won't Take Action

Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale, argued that even if the referendum receives widespread voter support, the Republican-controlled Legislature will not take action upon bills to take over the vocational system.

But Noll pointed out that 80 per cent of the lawmakers voted for the resolution to send the question to the statewide ballot.

He outlined a plan by which he said local control could be retained in the event of a state takeover.

Area boards should continue to operate, said Noll. Those boards will recommend to the state board all program proposals related to employment education. The local boards also will supervise those programs, under Noll's plan.

The area boards will send budget proposals to the state board for state review and forwarding to the governor, and the state board will adopt means to insure responsiveness to area board requests, under the Noll proposal.

Local boards will retain control of non-employment related programs offered at such schools if they are locally funded.

Noll also proposed that the state board would work to set up the plan if directed by the Legislature in action following the advisory referendum.

Ald. John Ayers, standing, outlines the proposal for the joint Appleton-Outagamie County safety building at a combined meeting of the city council and county board Tuesday night at the courthouse. Ayers is chairman of the joint study committee. The two bodies agreed in principle to proceed with plans.

Safety Building Gets Conditional Okay

Joint Study Proceeding For Details

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton and Outagamie County have agreed to a joint safety building project. But, at the same time, action taken Tuesday night by the city council and county board limited the scope of the agreement to a more detailed study.

The two bodies authorized the existing joint study committee to "proceed with the project for selection of an architect, preparation of preliminary plans and specifications, financing, site and other related details and present the same to both bodies for final approval."

Votes by both bodies were considered surprising — the council an overwhelming 16-3 margin and the county board by a narrow 25-20 margin.

No additional funds were provided the joint study committee but County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, said the information asked for in the action would be ready within a month.

Lack of agreement over how far to go nearly killed the project as both aldermen and supervisors demanded more information on financing and space allocation before committing themselves to proceed.

Ald. John Ayers, (12th) urged that the questions of how the building would be financed, how much space would be used by each body and the exact site, be treated as side lights to the major question of whether there should be a joint venture.

Financing Matter
Ninth Ward Ald. James Bethke disputed that financing was a side issue. "Until I have more information on financing, I will have to vote against it," he said.

Ayers contended that specific costs figures were not possible until actual building plans were drawn. "If the go-ahead is given tonight," Ayers said, "the project can still be stopped by either body at anytime."

Bethke noted the study had been in progress for several months without "even a decision on space needs. If we do proceed, we better get down to earnest work. We should stop playing games."

County board opposition was led by Kaukauna and Kimberly supervisors. Both Supvs. Sylvester Lenz, Turn to Page 11, Col. 1

Committee Decision

Welfare Not Election Issue

The future of the Appleton Welfare Department should not become a pre-election issue, a group of city officials said Tuesday. Mayor George Buckley agreed.

As a result, the city council's welfare-ordinance committee postponed until next month any action on a resolution by Ald. George Schwarzbauer to retain the unit (city) relief system.

Three years ago Schwarzbauer advocated elimination of the city welfare department in favor of having its program taken over by the county, but the proposal was voted down then.

The question of the welfare department status comes up at a time when Mayor Buckley is pushing for a takeover by Outagamie County, and the Wisconsin Legislature has before it the recommendation of the Tarr Task Force to have all relief administered on a county basis.

"If the county decides to take over the local relief program, this will all be a moot question," commented Ald. Richard Huisman (1st), committee chairman.

He agreed with Aids. Walter Kalata (2nd) and Glenn W. Thompson (13th) that it would be more timely to take up the matter after the April 1 election.

"I have no intention of pursuing this matter until after the election," Buckley told the group, "I give you my word."

At one point Schwarzbauer said even if the committee did delay deliberations, it would not preclude the subject of keeping or dropping the Appleton welfare department becoming an election issue.

Thompson and Ald. William Wachtendonk (3rd) said a study should be made to determine what savings, if any, would be realized by dropping the city relief program and having it administered by the county.

There was a split among the committee members on whether the mayor should appoint the study committee — some feeling he would "load" it.

Buckley said if he wasn't to appoint the committee, he thought Thompson should volunteer to head the study group and make selections of those to serve.

Schwarzbauer made it clear he did not appreciate that Buckley had initiated contact with the county on taking over the relief program without asking the city council first. He explained his resolution was to get the matter before the council rather than have action taken by "just one person."

Earlier, city welfare director Merton Ehrlicke had distributed his annual report and several "fact sheets" justifying the continuance of the city program rather than have it absorbed by the county.

Relief Services Higher

City Welfare Costs Up Slightly in 1968

The average monthly relief load carried by the Appleton Welfare Department in 1968 was slightly above the previous year, but relief services cost about $9,000 more, according to the agency's annual report.

Merton Ehrlicke, city welfare director, distributed the 1968 report, along with more than 60 pages of other data on his department operations, at a meeting of the council's welfare-ordinance committee Tuesday.

Relief service expenditures in 1968 totaled $68,465 compared to $59,452 the previous year. Ehrlicke has attributed this for the most part to raising medical costs.

The average monthly caseload last year was 38.3 compared to 38.1 in 1967.

It cost $27,358 to administer the program in 1968 and $28,171 the previous year.

Ehrlicke reported refunds from municipalities of non-resident clients and from clients themselves amounted to $23,737 last year, a sharp increase over the $17,509 recovered in 1967.

His department had a $1,703 balance in the administrative budget as of Dec. 31, 1968, but in relief service costs it operated at a $1,465 deficit.

8-Year Record
In spite of "increases in hospital and medical costs, we still have maintained a record of eight consecutive years of keeping costs down, so we did not contribute any increase in the tax base since 1961," Ehrlicke commented in a message to Mayor George Buckley and council members.

"We invite you to read the enclosed report reciting the reasons for which legitimate unemployment is only 5.6 percent of all the cases surveyed in 1968," Ehrlicke added. He reported 373 cases for the past year compared to 457 in 1967.

"We justified our department's existence in not how high our caseload is, but on the contrary, to keep our service its proper prospective and to motivate those dependent to independency," Ehrlicke concluded.

Cars Crash; Man Injured Slightly

Jerome E. May, 46, 3818 N. Meade St., suffered minor injuries when his car and one driven by Daniel G. Berg, 22, 323 E. Wisconsin Ave., collided at Wisconsin Avenue and N. Oneida Street Tuesday morning. Appleton police said the May car was eastbound on Wisconsin and the Berg auto was southbound on Oneida. Both drivers told police they had the green light at the intersection.

County to Ask Extension on Jail Facilities

More Time Needed For Final Decisions On Safety Building

Outagamie County will seek another extension of the state order to correct deficiencies in the county jail.

The six month extension, which had been permitted the county, expires March 21 and unless a further extension is granted by the State Department of Health and Social Services, the jail will be closed that day.

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, said a letter will be sent to Wilbur Schmidt, secretary of the department, informing him of the action taken Tuesday night by the county board and Appleton City council toward approval of a joint safety building.

No Part
V. A. Verhulst, jail inspector for the State Division of Corrections, who made the inspection upon which the original state order was issued, attended the joint meeting Tuesday but did not take part in the discussion.

He later said that whether or not another extension is given the county is "out of my hands."

The original order for the county to correct jail deficiencies by either remodeling the existing jail or building a new jail was issued March 21, 1966. The order gave the county six months to "commence" the corrections.

When studies of the possibility of a joint safety building got underway, the county was given a six month extension on the order. That extension expires a week from Friday.

Dress Code Elimination Plan Rejected

A student council proposal that Appleton High School-East students not be restricted in their dress has been returned to the council for further study.

Principal Stanley Ore rejected the recommendation for a "trial period" where there would be no restrictions on the dress of students.

"I feel the school has some obligation to teach the accepted dress standards," commented Ore. His approval is needed to put a code into effect.

The code proposal was turned back to the council for further study. Ore said that he did not know when and if the council would come up with another proposal.

Welfare Unit System Blamed

People in State Hungry, Unclothed

MADISON — Some residents are going hungry and unclothed because of the inadequacies of the unit system of relief administration that survives in 31 of the 72 counties of Wisconsin, the state legislature was told Tuesday.

Turning all general relief administration over to county welfare departments under a mandatory state law would lead to wasteful spending and "unbearable" property taxes, an opposing witness told the Assembly Committee on Public Welfare at a public hearing.

Thus was resumed a perennial dispute about the validity of the local relief system that has survived in Wisconsin since the founding of the state and, as one social worker reminded the committee, originated in the laws of England in the time of Queen Elizabeth I.

County Option

The Legislature has repeatedly in the past favored a system of county option permitting county boards to decide whether general relief should be handled through county agencies, as are Social Security aids, or by the several towns, cities and villages within a county.

There are signs today that the county administration plan has picked up strength as a result of the endorsement of such a plan by the Tarr Commission on Local Government, which in its recently published recommendations, urged the expansion of the powers of the county for the administration of areawide services.

Mrs. A. Roy Anderson, who served on the task force, spoke for its recommendation in the absence of President Curtis Tarr of Lawrence University, Appleton, its chairman, who was in Washington.

Improved Care

She said the legislation to force all counties to a county-wide system of providing general relief would put the responsibility in the hands of those professionals who are already administering categorical aids (old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, among others) and probably bring some improvement in the level of care provided for those on general relief.

"To that extent it would eliminate the tendency for movement of persons from areas now administered by units to those where county standards are in force," she said.

Not so, argued numerous local officials representing jurisdictions managing their own relief disbursements. County programs would cost more at a time when most persons already are worried about an "unbearable property tax load," said Earl Hollister, chairman of the Kenosha County Board.

Charge Made
The charge that local relief administrators are permitting persons to go without the necessities of life through ignorance or indifference came from Ronald Todd of the Wisconsin Welfare Association, an organization of social workers, in reply to question from Assemblyman William Rogers of Kaukauna.

Many of the part-time relief directors are often unavailable, he said, and some of them have the idea that their responsibility ends when "they hand out a grocery order and hope that the applicant won't come back tomorrow."

But many town and other local officers claimed that the local officials are more careful with the public dollar, can detect malingers more accurately, and in many cases, such as finding employment can be more helpful than can the professional caseworker at distant county courthouse. They claimed also that a county system would inevitably raise costs rather than lower them.

Board, Teachers Fail to Reach Accord on Contract

AEA Maintains Its Rejection Of Educators' $6,700 Offer

Appleton's board of education will stand firm on its initial offer of $6,700 as a September base salary for beginning teachers, it was revealed Tuesday night in a closed bargaining session.

At the same time, the Appleton Education Association (AEA) is maintaining its rejection of the offer, a spokesman indicated today. He noted the offer has been unacceptable to the teachers for sometime.

The board voted Monday night to maintain its offer, which includes a $6,850 base salary for the period of Jan. 1, 1970 to Dec. 31, 1970. The vote came in a closed session, following the regular board meeting.

Bargaining Continuing
Gordon Myse, chief negotiator for AEA, said this morning that no joint press release would be made on the Tuesday night session but he did confirm that the bargaining was continuing.

He said that negotiators did reach some agreements Tuesday night, but he refused to expand. Under an agreement,

K-C Moves Into Hangar at Outagamie Port

Air transportation is what has permitted the Kimberly-Clark Corp. to maintain its headquarters in the Fox River Valley, John Kimberly, chairman of the board, told Outagamie County Board supervisors Tuesday noon.

Kimberly Says Firm Can Stay in Valley Because of Airplanes

Kimberly said the firm's corporate aircraft have permitted the mobility necessary to maintain ties with its customers and markets without having to move its corporate offices to a large city. He recounted the corporation's beginnings in corporate aircraft with one twin-engine airplane. Kimberly-Clark now operates two jets, a prop-jet and a twin-engine propeller airplane.

Tour of Hangar

Kimberly's remarks were made at a luncheon at the company's marketing center after a tour of the firm's new hangar building at the Outagamie County Airport.

The hangar contains 27,000 square feet and has office space on a second floor balcony. Cost of the building was $600,000 financed through a county bond issue and to be repaid by Kimberly-Clark over a 30-year lease period.

The Neenah-based firm officially took over the hangar Monday and started moving its equipment from the Winnebago County Airport Tuesday. The move is expected to take three or four days. The four company airplanes are now housed in the new hangar.

To Fight Evils of Narcotics, Parents Must Know Enemy

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

Wise parents will try to lead from the strength of knowledge in discussing drugs with their children. Only that way are they likely to be effective; only that way can they speak intelligently.

Knowledge in this case must be based on the facts about the drugs themselves — what they're like and what they do to people. Here is a rundown on the principal drugs being used or abused.

First Comes Marijuana
It's more commonly known as pot, grass, Marv Jane, hay, joint, reefer, stick or by a dozen other names.

As generally used in the United States, marijuana is a mild drug that produces fantasies. Smokers may develop a psychological need for it. But it is not physically habit forming — quitting it doesn't cause any physical withdrawal symptoms.

It is not a narcotic, and neither are other hallucination-producing drugs. Marijuana is under narcotics control for various reasons. But true narcotics usually produce sleep or stupor and relieve pain; they can be addictive or habit forming.

Marijuana comes from the female hemp plant, Cannabis sativa. The leaves and flowering tops are dried, sometimes are mixed with tobacco, and rolled into a cigarette.

Feeling of Well-Being

The effects, felt in a few minutes, usually last three to five hours, but may go on for 12. Reefers can vary widely in potency, depending on the content of the active plant ingredient.

Typically, most smokers have a feeling of great well-being, of feeling high, like having had a few alcoholic drinks. They may become talkative and hilarious, or fall into a dreamy state. Their ideas flow rapidly, sometimes in disconnected fashion.

They fantasize, and sometimes have a deeper appreciation of works of art or music. Time stretches out. Distance and sounds are magnified.

Other smokers may feel irritable and confused, or become fearful.

LSD is so potent that a dose no larger than the point of a pin is enough to send most people off on amazing "trips" within their own minds. LSD stands for lysergic acid diethylamide, and is often simply called acid, trips, cubes, pearly gates or heavenly blue.

It's supplied, quite illegally, as a powder in capsules, small white pills, or a colorless, tasteless liquid that can be soaked into sugar cubes or crackers.

Reaction Varies

A trip usually begins 30 to 45 minutes after the drug is swallowed, and lasts eight to 12 hours. How a person reacts depends on the dose the person himself, his mood, and the setting.

Most users report seeing brilliant colors, starbursts and distortion of geometric objects. Senses may blend so colors appear to be tasted. Sensitivity to sound increases. Objects may pulsate. Something as familiar as a teacup can appear to be an object of fantastic beauty and wonder. Feelings of creativity are enhanced. Time may slow, then race ahead, or even seem to go backward.

On bad trips, users may feel cut off, alone, anxious, panicky. Some land in hospitals for treatment of mental disturbances, and a few have killed or injured themselves.

No physical dependence develops, but psychological dependence may.

Mescaline is from the buttons of a small cactus plant—prickly pear or mesquite. It is also supplied illegally as a powder or liquid. Far milder than LSD, its effects last 10 to 12 hours.

Milder Drug

Psychoybin itself is a less concentrated form of mescaline and therefore milder.

Psilocybin comes from a Mexican mushroom and is supplied in crystal, powder, or liquid form. Its effects last two to six hours generally, and are similar to those from mescaline.

DMT (Dimethyltryptamine) when taken in larger doses produces effects like those from LSD. Effects last an hour or two.

STP also known as DOM, a synthetic chemical related to mescaline and amphetamines, is reported to be extremely mind-distorting but less so than LSD.

Morning glory seeds of a few varieties contain an active principle closely related to LSD, but far less potent.

To drug abusers, barbiturates are known by many nicknames — goofballs, barbas, candy, yellow jackets, seecy, rainbows, blue devils, and the like.

Numerous people become physically and psychologically dependent upon barbiturates—there are many types—for sleep, or to combat anxiety or tensions. When tolerance builds up, the drugs stimulate rather than depress.

Some abusers use barbiturates combined with pep pills for a see-saw effect, or take the barbiturates to reduce the jitters that pep pills cause. When combined with alcohol, the kick from barbiturates can be fatal.

Judgment Impaired

Prolonged use of barbiturates can lead to impaired judgment and intellectual performance, to bizarre behavior, slurred speech, tremor, self-neglect. Abrupt withdrawal in a dependent user may lead to nausea, fever, hallucinations, convulsions, coma, and even death.

There's a big black market in amphetamines and other stimulant drugs—commonly called pep pills, wake-ups, bennies, dexies, copilots, footballs. Medically, amphetamines are used to combat appetite, to relieve mild depression, and for other purposes. Truck drivers may take them to stay awake on long hauls. Students use them to stay up late studying for exams.

Overuse and abuse induce a sense of good feeling, excitement, boundless energy, a sense that feeling tired has gone out of style.

Amphetamines do not cause physical dependence. Quitting this habit doesn't cause physical distress.

In large amounts, amphetamines can induce hallucinations and delusions or psychoses, especially if injected. Methamphetamine or speed, is one very dangerous drug which some abusers have been injecting.

Cocaine, from the leaf of the coca plant, was one of the earliest stimulant drugs. High doses can induce happy feelings and hallucinations. Overdoses may cause convulsions and death.

Ancient Drug

Opium, from the poppy plant, was the ancient forerunner of powerful pain-relieving and depressant drugs. Morphine is a derivative, and a priceless medical painkiller at times.

Heroin, closely related to morphine, has no medical uses, but at least 60,000 Americans are addicted to it. They use heroin—the big H, horse, junk—to induce a sense of good feeling, to reduce feelings of fear, anxiety and tension.

The user can "go on the nod," becoming sleepy, and "safe" from problems and challenges. This effect, depending on dose and potency, usually lasts only three to four hours. Then the habitual user must seek more H.

Narcotics can become his way of life, and a costly one, often supported by crime. Most authorities say the narcotics addict steals, burgles or engages in prostitution to get money, rather than committing violent crimes.

These narcotics produce both physical and psychological dependence. Pregnant women who continue using heroin or allied drugs may have newborn babies who show all the troubles of narcotics withdrawal. Such babies may die unless treated immediately with antidotes.

Heroin users usually become truly "hooked" after taking the drug daily for a week or so.

Some youngsters seeking kicks abuse cough syrups containing codeine, an opium derivative, or medicines containing paregoric, containing a dilute amount of opium.

Sniffing airplane glue, or gasoline, and vapors from other products is a persistent and dangerous, if low-level, fad among the very young and some teenagers.

Solvents in the vapors can act as poisons, resulting in permanent damage to the nervous system and liver, and big enough doses, can be fatal. Youngsters sniffing the vapors become dizzy, and can

Reorganization of Schools Aids Pupils, Study Reveals

MADISON — Certificates of cooperation have been sent to 10 school districts in Wisconsin for participating in a 20-year study which shows reorganized districts have definite educational advantages for pupils in grade and high schools.

The study began in 1949 and has been under the direction of Prof. Burton W. Kreitlow of the University of Wisconsin's School of Education and College of Agricultural and Live Sciences. He said published results of the study have been sought by school officials and educational researchers all over the country. It is the only study of its kind despite the fact that district reorganization has been going on throughout the nation for a century.

One-room Schools

Kreitlow noted that between 1949 and 1968 the number of school districts in the entire United States was reduced from 100,000 to 26,000. In the same period the number shrank from 6,000 to 472 in Wisconsin.

This reduction has come about largely through progressive elimination of one-room schools and reorganization of districts to allow for more centralized administration of teachers, pupils and educational services. Reorganizing districts usually involves busing pupils from scattered areas to centrally-located school buildings. Kreitlow's study indicates that reorganizing a district means improved education for boys and girls.

At every grade level, total opportunities provided for pupils were greater in reorganized districts than in non-reorganized ones. This was true for availability of such items as library books, equipment for aiding mathematics and science findings, modern maps and globes, other audio-visual equipment, supervisory services for teachers, and special teachers or supervisors in art, music and physical education.

But even with these differences in opportunity, the most important question is whether children in reorganized districts actually learn more in subject matter areas of the curriculum. Again Kreitlow's study indicates they do.

According to his most recent findings, both boys and girls in reorganized school communities revealed a mental maturity superior to those in non-reorganized areas. These first grade, showed no mental maturity differences. After 12 years in the two types of districts, the differences in mental maturity for the same children were one-half a year for boys and over a year for girls, according to standardized tests.

"All in all," Kreitlow said, "this research has piled up a substantial amount of evidence that reorganization of school districts does improve the education for boys and girls — the kind of district in which children live does make a difference."

Kreitlow's study has been welcomed by Wisconsin state

County police arrested Leupold on State 22 in the Town of Farmington.

Sherwood Parish Will Discuss School's Future

SHERWOOD — A special parish meeting to discuss the future of Sacred Heart Catholic School has been scheduled for 8:30 p.m. today in the school.

The pastor, the Rev. Michael Drexler, said since the parish has been informed it will lose a teaching sister next school year, parishioners will discuss the possibility of consolidating with St. John the Baptist School, three miles east of here; hiring another lay teacher and continue as now; eliminate two grades, or close the school.

The meeting will be an informational session and a vote will not be taken until the following week.

Sacred Heart, which has operated a school since 1872, currently has about 180 pupils in

Your Money's Worth Can't be Penny-Wise With Top U.S. Posts

BY SYLVIA PORTER

In the spring of 1967, when I was a member of the presidential study panel which paved the way for 1969's big hikes in the pay of key federal officials, the salary of a top civil service by people with less than outstanding ability." And as we debated at that time the proper salary levels, we had studies before us showing how appalling were the gaps between the federal pay scale and that of positions bidding for the same people.

Correct Move

Hundreds of lesser posts in state and local governments were paying $35,000 and up; salaries of $35,000 and up to $90,000 were not uncommon in tax-exempt foundations. As for private industry, we winced: The secretary of the treasury was receiving less than half as much as the heads of our major banks; the secretary of defense was getting a fraction of the compensation of the heads of defense contracting firms. And so it went.

Thus, we came to the pay hikes for the few hundred men in key executive posts — and from there, we had to go to adjustments in legislative and judiciary salaries to bring the compensation of these men and women up to date, to help them meet the costs of living for most of the year in Washington and to minimize their need for seeking other means to augment their incomes.

Whether our precise figures were absolutely correct or not, the direction in which we moved was indisputably right. And by recommending the establishment of machinery which will adjust these pay scales at least every four years in the future, we made sure this sort of thing will not occur again.

I would like to give you the words with which our panel closed our report and asked President Johnson to discharge us:

"The quality of our government is a direct function of the abilities and characteristics of its top executives. To be penny-wise in the salary treatment of these executives is neither good business nor good government." (All Rights Reserved)

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — They're giving Snoopy wings, finally. The long-eared comic strip dog who dreams of aerial combat with German pilots of World War I will be guest of honor of the Navy's famed Blue Angels flying team Wednesday.

Flag Desecration Charge Dismissed

SEATTLE (AP) — Justice Court Judge Bill Lewis dismissed on Monday a charge of flag desecration against a housewife who testified she did not know it was against the law to use sections of a U.S. flag as window curtains in her residence.

Mrs. Gale H. Buckley, 28, of Seattle, had been charged after a citizen complained and police investigated.

The flag had been cut in half, hemmed and sewn so it could be suspended from a curtain rod in an upper window. Deputy Prosecutor George T. Mattson said.

1040 Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U S Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I received my tax forms in the mail but my son didn't. Why is that? He started working last summer and taxes are being taken out of his wages.

A — A tax return is mailed to everyone who filed a return for the previous year. Your son would therefore not receive a tax form if he started working in 1968 as you indicate.

Q — I can't find the W-2 form and instructions are available at the local IRS offices as well as many post offices and banks.

Q — If I file my 1968 return by the end of January can I forget about the fourth installment of my estimated tax?

A — Yes, if you file your 1968 return by Jan. 31 paying any balance due at that time. But don't forget that 1969 declarations must be filed by April 15.

Q — Last year I sold some stock I had received from my father's estate. Do I have to pay tax on this money?

A — You will only have to include in income any increase between the value of the stock at the time your father died and what you sold it for.

Q — I got married last year and my wife and I both received 1040 tax packages. If we file a joint return, whose label should be put on the form, mine or hers?

A — On joint returns the account is primarily identified by the husband's social security number. Therefore, file the return with your label adding your wife's name to it but be sure also to enter your wife's social security number on the return in the space provided for it.

Q — Are farmers subject to the new surcharge?

A — Yes, they like all income taxpayers are subject to the surcharge.

Q — I can't find the W-2 form and instructions are available at the local IRS offices as well as many post offices and banks.

Q — If I file my 1968 return by the end of January can I forget about the fourth installment of my estimated tax?

A — Yes, if you file your 1968 return by Jan. 31 paying any balance due at that time. But don't forget that 1969 declarations must be filed by April 15.

Q — Last year I sold some stock I had received from my father's estate. Do I have to pay tax on this money?

A — You will only have to include in income any increase between the value of the stock at the time your father died and what you sold it for.

Q — I'm recovering from a serious illness and can no longer work. Since I now have to use public transportation to get to work, can I deduct this as a medical expense?

A — No. Transportation expenses to and from work are considered personal expenses and are not deductible. However, if the stock decreased in value the loss may be used to reduce any other capital gains deductible as medical expenses. You might have to report this on your Form 1040. For details see the instructions on how to handle these expenses.

Social Security News

Beneficiaries Must Show Earnings in Annual Report

Now is the time for action for many Social Security beneficiaries according to Frank M. Donnack, manager of the Appleton Social Security office.

Those employed or self-employed during 1968 are required to file an annual report of earnings with the Social Security Administration if their annual earnings exceeded $1,680. Social Security beneficiaries, except for those receiving disability benefits, are governed by the "retirement test."

Under the test, a person may earn $1,680 a year and receive all Social Security checks for that year. If earnings are from $1,680 to $2,880, one-half of the amount from $1,680 to $2,880 must be withheld from his benefits. If his earnings exceed $2,880, dollar for dollar must be withheld from earnings over $2,880.

Withholding Shown

For example, a person earning $2,980 would have $600 withheld from his earnings for $1,680 to $2,880 and an additional $100 because of earnings exceeding $2,880, for a total of $700 in benefits withheld.

Exceptions to this rule are that regardless how much money a person earns, he would be entitled to a check for any month he did not earn over $140 or render substantial services in self-employment, or was age 72 or older.

It is important to remember that the retirement test applies to more than just retired workers. People receiving benefits as a wife, widow, minor child, or student also are governed by the test.

Earnings included to determine whether a person exceeds $1,680 are any type of wages or self-employment income regardless of whether they are covered by Social Security Income such as interest on savings or investments, other pensions, or rental income. Earnings for the entire year in which benefits start and for the entire year in which benefits might end, is considered in determining the amount of benefits which can be paid.

It is important that anyone receiving social security benefits, subject to the retirement test, file an annual report of their earnings with the Social Security Administration on or before April 15, 1969. Information on the retirement test, or annual report of earnings, is available at the Appleton Social Security office.

Flips Cigarette and Nearly Flips Himself

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — William Haney was driving down the street when he attempted to flip a cigarette out the car window.

He hooked his glasses and flipped them out instead.

He stopped the car, walked back to retrieve the glasses, and turned around to see his car traveling down the street — without a driver.

Police said Haney pursued the car for about 150 yards but it outpaced him, jumped a curb and rolled down an embankment to the shore of the Boise River.

'No Strings' Treaty Favored by Senate

Proposal to Alter Nuclear Pact Overwhelmingly Beaten in Test

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate backers of the nuclear non-proliferation treaty, showing their muscle in a test vote, have made it clear they intend to send the White House a pact with no strings attached.

In a 61-30 vote Tuesday, the Senate rejected a proposal by Democrat Sam Ervin of North Carolina to add a reservation to the treaty declaring the United States was not obligated to defend nonnuclear nations from atomic attack. (Sens. Gaylord Nelson and William Proxmire, both D-Wis., voted with the majority.)

Although other reservations were before the Senate today, the initial test made ratification, possibly Thursday, appear all but certain.

Ervin said that without his reservation this country might find itself confronted with their muscle in a test vote, have made it clear they intend to send the White House a pact with no strings attached.

turned flamethrowers on the enemy positions.

"We hosed them down," said the spokesman. "About 75 enemy broke and ran and we caught them with artillery."

American helicopter gunships and dive-bombers also killed the North Vietnamese positions on both sides of the road.

North Vietnamese troops in the Central Highlands made two attacks on U.S. infantrymen from the 4th Division patrolling between the Cambodian border and Kontum City. One of the fights was 17 miles west-northwest of Kontum, the other 27 miles west of the city, an area of steadily increasing activity in the past week.

The Americans said they killed 32 North Vietnamese soldiers, while American casualties were eight dead and 43 wounded.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division ran into about 200 North Vietnamese troops on the fringes of War Zone D 30 miles northeast of Saigon. The Americans were supported by artillery and helicopter gunships and reported 15 enemy soldiers killed; four Americans were wounded.

U.S. Marines sweeping along the Laotian border 370 miles north of Saigon clashed with about 40 North Vietnamese troops. The Marines reported three North Vietnamese and two Americans killed and 39 Marines wounded.

S-35B bombers kept up their usual heavy strikes, unloading 1,080 tons of bombs along the Saigon River 33 to 47 miles northwest of the capital and another 720 tons west and southwest of Kontum.

move swiftly to whatever recovery zone was selected.

Swells averaged 15 feet Monday and some seasickness was reported. In dining areas, dishes slid and soup spilled.

McDivitt expressed concern Monday when he spotted whitecaps in the recovery area from more than 100 miles in space.

"That's not down to my specifications," the Apollo 9 commander said, when informed of the forecast.

"I want those recovery guys to find a nice soft piece of water with no wind and no waves, and lots of sunshine, too. . . . Oh yes, I forgot one thing. A couple helicopters, too," he said.

Otherwise, the flight of Apollo 9 proceeded flawlessly into its ninth day, with the astronauts again ticketed for a leisurely spell of picture-taking, navigation sightings and preparations for their return to Earth.

During the first five days of the mission they proved the flight worthiness of the lunar module, or LEM, the craft designed to land two Americans on the moon this July.

The last five days are devoted

Rusk Picketed in College Talk

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Tuesday night the primary goal of the human race is "to keep that nuclear beast in its cage."

Rusk said Americans should remember the lessons learned from World War II, adding, "there will be no lessons to be drawn from World War III."

Rusk spoke before 3,000 persons at Denison University's Owens-Corning lecture series.

About 30 young demonstrators carrying signs gathered in front of the Denison field house before Rusk's arrival. At the beginning of his speech he jokingly thanked them for trying "to make me feel at home."

Rusk warned against isolationism and appeasement. He said caution should be used in changing policy.

On Monday, the astronauts twice sighted the giant Pegasus satellite with its 96-foot wingspan. It was launched by the United States in 1965 to record meteorite hits.

"Boy he's really moving. Do you want us to rendezvous with it?" Scott asked in jest as he spotted the winged satellite 822 miles away.

E. Germans Fire on Would-be Escapee

BERLIN (AP) — East German border guards opened fire today to halt a dawn dash across the border by a would-be refugee to West Berlin.

Police reported that the young man, about 25, apparently was not injured. He had reached the final barrier fence when discovered and was taken into custody.

Newest Suez Canal Clash Is Started by Egyptians, U.N. Says

TEL AVIV (AP) — Light arms fire broke out along the Suez Canal today and Israeli and Jordanian forces traded fire in the Jordan Valley.

The Israeli army in Tel Aviv said the Egyptians started the new round of hostilities along the canal with sniper fire. Israeli troops fired back, the army said.

Israeli soldiers fired in the air to quell a schoolboys' riot in the occupied Gaza Strip. Officials said 500 schoolboys charged an Israeli half-track, throwing stones and chanting curses and Palestine slogans. The students set boxes afire and erected stone barricades in the street.

They were dispersed after troops fired into the air and 25 of them were arrested.

Army spokesmen reported several hundred other students staged a stone-throwing demonstration in the casbah of Nabulus, in occupied Jordanian territory north of Jerusalem. Troops dispersed them and placed the casbah under curfew.

Israelis waited tensely to see whether the canal hostilities would escalate.

Blames Egyptians

United Nations observers stationed along the 103-mile-long waterway have blamed the Egyptians for starting the shooting on all occasions.

The staff officer said the Egyptians must be convinced "they are getting the short end" in the fighting. He said they are confusing fact and fiction in believing they have inflicted heavy casualties on the Israelis.

Cairo has claimed destruction of five Israeli Piper Cubs, a helicopter and 2 tanks and wounding and killing scores of troops.

The officer said Israel in the last four days suffered 5 soldiers killed, 25 wounded, one Piper Cub plane shot down, two vehicles destroyed and a few others damaged.

He said the Piper Cub had been shot down by an SA2 anti-aircraft missile, the first used since the 1967 Middle East war.

For their part, the Israelis said they inflicted heavy punishment on the Egyptians, perhaps killing from 30 to 50 soldiers in addition to Lt. Gen. Abdel Mo-neim Riad, the chief of staff, and damaging port installations, ships and oil installations at Suez City.

"Just Lucky"

Asked if the Israelis had prior knowledge of Riad's movements, the officer replied: "No, we were just lucky."

He said he did not think the Russians had taken an active part in the fighting, but they had not played a moderating role either.

He estimated the Egyptians fired from 8,000 to 10,000 artillery shells Saturday and again on Sunday, but fewer Tuesday.

The officer said Israel believed Cairo wanted to escalate the fighting in order to pressure the great powers into settling the problem—preferably in Egypt's favor.

Bridge Construction Knowles Asks State To Tap Fund of 1970s

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles is asking legislators to consider borrowing money on highway projects intended for the 1970s so funds would be available sooner for bridge construction.

The rather complicated method of financing bridge work is the key to a measure introduced Tuesday by Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton. It reflects requests made by Knowles last year.

The bill concerns relocation of Highway 15 from Milwaukee to Beloit. The work is to begin in 1976, using about $48 million obtained through bond issues.

William Redmond, the State Highway Commission chairman, said the bond issue funds would be invested ahead of schedule, and about $6 million taken aside annually to improve the bridges on which Knowles has said work is needed as soon as possible.

Redmond also said it was virtually irrelevant whether to use the Highway 15 program or a proposed Highway 53 improvement between Eau Claire and Superior to pave the foundation for the bridge program.

Froehlich said the measure reflects an easier method of bridge financing. An undesirable alternative, he said, would be to get involved in separate bond issues for individual bridges.

The speaker acknowledged that the bill could open the doors to a flood of requests from legislators for special consideration of home-town highway projects. Efforts will be made to keep it under control, he said.

Knowles said last year state engineers feel Wisconsin has more than 70 bridges on which work is necessary.

Bridge needs in the next few years, he predicted, could cost $14 million, but would have help from federal assistance.

Hour of Terror on Aircraft Ends When Would-be Hijacker Is Shot

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — "I took him by surprise," said 21-year-old Ricardo Davila. "It was simply that I felt that we could not stand any longer his threat to blow up the plane."

Davila wrestled what he thought was a stick of dynamite from a teen-age youth who tried to hijack a Colombian airliner to Cuba Tuesday with 38 persons aboard. A passenger was killed and the hijacker critically wounded in a shootout which ended an hour of terror aboard the plane.

The Colombian Civil Aeronautics Authority gave this account of the incident.

The Sociedad Aeronautica de Medellin DC4 was approaching Cartagena on a domestic flight when the youth demanded that the pilot fly to Cuba. Cartagena, on Colombia's Caribbean seacoast, is about 650 miles south of Cuba.

"We don't have fuel to get to Cuba," the pilot told him, and landed at the Cartagena airport.

The youth, with a lighted cigarette in one hand and a tube he said was dynamite in the other, held the other 33 passengers and four crewmen at bay for an hour, demanding that the plane be refueled.

The Security Department ordered the airline not to refuel the craft, and police and marines surrounded it on the runway.

Lunged for Youth

Then Davila, a student, lunged for the youth and grabbed the tube, which later was found to contain only talcum powder.

"I cannot explain my action," he said later. "I suddenly decided to take away the stick . . ."

Davila said the hijacker, crowded by panicky passengers, sprang to an emergency exit. Authorities said he emerged from the plane firing into the air.

The youth, identified only as a student about 18 years old, was reported in critical condition at Cartagena Hospital after undergoing surgery for a gunshot wound in the head.

Another passenger, a mechanic for the airline, was killed in the shooting.

First reports of the incident said three men armed with sub-machine guns tried to hijack the plane. Those reports said one hijacker and a passenger were killed, and four passengers, a policeman and another hijacker were wounded.

Power Hookup With Kaukauna Being Readied

Menasha in Early Stages of Work for Interconnection

MENASHA -- Early stages of work have begun within the city to prepare the electric utility system for the coming interconnection with Kaukauna.

James Taylor, manager of the Menasha utility, said the work to install a "loop" of 34.5 kilovolt power lines can be expected to go on for the next five or six months.

Two Paths

The lines will follow two paths, chiefly along Second and Third Streets, linking the steam generator plant and a switching station that is to be built near the city garage. Another element in the project involves a crossing over the Fox River near the Racine Street Bridge to beef up service to the Island, where much of the city's heavy industry is concentrated.

One main line already serves the Island from the south. The river crossing from the north will complete the other half of a loop, giving added insurance against loss of service if one line suffers storm damage or must be shut off for repairs, utility officials explained.

The line work currently under way also will create a huge loop serving the northerly part of the city, with the steam plant tied into the loop on the west and the new substation on the east.

Substation

The substation will serve to step up power going from here to Kaukauna when the nearby city is buying power from Menasha, and will step down power coming from Kaukauna to the local system when the flow is reversed.

Electricity within the city is conducted at 13,800 volts while the interconnection lines will carry 34,500 volts initially. At a later stage, it is planned to increase the interconnection system to carry 138,000 volts.

Menasha Linemen

Linemen from the Menasha utility are currently working along Racine Street between the river and First Street and on Mantowoc Street between First Street and Plank Road. They are moving some existing lines, installing new, higher poles to carry the higher voltage wires above the rest and stringing new lines.

The startup date for the interconnection is timed for the end of this year or early in 1970. Besides Menasha and Kaukauna, both city-owned utilities, Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., a private utility which has sold some power to Kaukauna for years, also is included in the agreement.

WE'RE VERY SORRY:

But we couldn't get Gina Lollobrigida to have an affair with Shelley Winters.

And we couldn't get Phil Silvers to fall in love with Peter Lawford. ("I'm fond of him," said Silvers, "But I just don't love him")

So we had to make a picture — where the men only like women... and the women only dig men.

Yes, it seems we've made an "old fashioned" picture (remember them?) where you'd be laughing one minute and crying the next?

Try us for an hour and fifty-two minutes. If this isn't one of the funniest pictures you've ever seen... if you haven't gotten more laughs than you've had in years... ask the manager for your money back. Then you'll really get laughs.

This was backed by Supv. Marvin Babbitt, Seymour. "I favor cooperation with the city," Babbitt said, "and we need cooperation badly. This is a golden opportunity for us." The board's vice chairman noted that remodeling the county jail had been studied for five years without anything being done. "We must decide tonight," he emphasized.

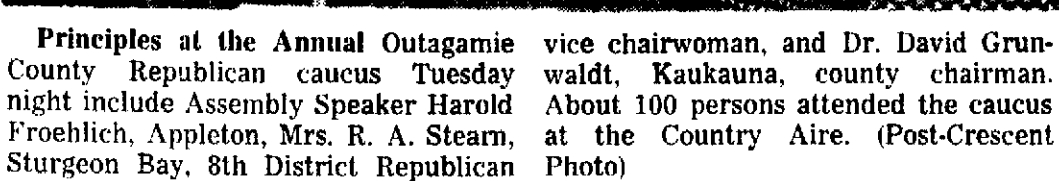

Supv Patrick Heenan, Appleton, supported the urgency for action. "We can meet until doomsday unless someone gets the go-ahead to do something."

Kalata's motion that the city go ahead with the joint building had little support from the council until Ald. John Steidl (18th) amended the motion to have the joint study committee get specific cost figures and plans for approval by the council and county board.

Supv. Charles Wussow, Appleton, made a similar motion for the county board.

Colossal Cheeseburgers

Wedding Ring Burgers

Russian Pirog

Food for Seconds

By Lillian Mackesy POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR

There's food for thought in this idea of foods designed for second helpings. Especially since the recipes all are based on basic ground meat. . . beef chuck. . . smoked ham. . . hamburger meat.

Ground beef is fashioned into a spicy meat loaf baked in a crunchy bread case to make an oversized cheeseburger. The adaptation of a famous Russian recipe using ground beef and called Pirog is the Russian meat loaf baked in a pastry covering. The flavorful ground beef mixture is encased in a crisp cheese crust and topped with golden crumbs. Served with this delicious entree is a simple dill and sour cream sauce.

The Colossal Cheeseburger has many things going for it besides its delicious taste. All four basic food groups needed daily for sparkling good health and disposition are in this giant sandwich. There's protein power in the ground beef, important vitamins in the enriched bread, calcium in the cheddar cheese cubes, the tomato sauce with mushrooms and celery providing the fruit and vegetable requirements.

Burger Pups, hamburger basically shaped to fit a frankfurter bun, go along with the square burger that may be served with a big helping of pickles or pickle-spiced cole slaw.

Another burger variation is the Wedding Ring burger, seasoned with chili sauce and shaped with a hole in the middle. This is a place to put some sweet mixed pickles to enhance the sandwich.

Particularly handsome for company serving are the meatballs in cider sauce, kept hot in a server. Another oven baked casserole that's delicious for family or company is the beef and rice dinner in a zesty barbecue sauce, a combination of molasses and prepared mustard.

COLOSSAL CHEESEBURGER
1 loaf (1 pound) unsliced French bread (preferably sourdough)
1 pound lean ground beef
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce with mushrooms
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 small onion, finely chopped
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups Cheddar cheese cubes

Cut slice off top of bread; scoop out center, leaving one-inch shell. Measure one cup bread crumbs (save remainder for stuffings or casserole toppings); combine with all remaining ingredients except half-cup cheese cubes.

Place bread on large sheet heavy duty aluminum foil. Pack mixture into bread shell; bring up foil and seal securely. Place directly on oven rack (no need to use a baking sheet); bake at 375 degrees for 1 1/2 hours.

Carefully fold foil back from top and sides of loaf. Sprinkle with reserved cheese cubes; bake five minutes more, or until cheese is melted. Recipe makes six servings.

WEDDING RING BURGERS
1 pound ground beef chuck
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
4 hamburger buns, split, toasted and buttered
1/2 cup chopped sweet mixed pickles
4 small sweet gherkins
Mix together chuck, chili sauce, salt and pepper. Shape into four patties; press thumb through center and shape to resemble doughnut. Broil three inches from heat three to four minutes on each side, or until desired doneness.

Place each on a bottom half of bun, fill center of each with 1 tablespoon chopped sweet mixed pickles. Cover each with top half of bun and garnish with a gherkin on a wooden pick.

RUSSIAN PIROG (Meat Loaf)
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 pkg. (3 ounce) cream cheese
1 egg, beaten
2 cups chopped onion
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 beef bouillon cube, crumbled
1 1/2 pounds ground beef chuck or round
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon fine corn-flake crumbs

Prepare dough for cheese crust: Combine and sift flour and salt into bowl. Cut butter or margarine and cream cheese into flour with pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add egg; mix until all particles are moistened. Shape into patty; wrap in film; refrigerate.

To prepare filling: Sauté onion until tender in three tablespoons butter or margarine; stir in bouillon. Cool; combine with next five ingredients and mix. Shape into an 8x4-inch oval loaf. Roll dough on lightly floured board into a 12x16 inch oval. Center meat loaf on dough. Cut dough around loaf into one and one-half inch strips, starting one inch from meat and cutting to outside edge of dough. Fold strips up over loaf joining them at center top and pressing dough firmly against meat. Seal ends together at top of loaf.

Melt remaining one tablespoon butter or margarine and brush over crust; sprinkle with cornflake crumbs. Center on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in 375-degree oven until meat is done, about 60 minutes. Cool 10 minutes; slice and serve with dill sauce. Recipe makes eight servings.

DILL SAUCE
1 cup (1/2 pint) dairy sour cream
1/2 cup salad dressing
1/2 cup finely chopped dill pickle
2 tablespoons dill pickle liquid

Combine ingredients; slowly heat to serving temperature, stirring constantly. Recipe makes about one and three-fourths cups sauce.

STEAK BURGERS
1 1/2 cups shredded cabbage
1/2 cup chopped sweet mixed pickles
1 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared mustard

Lightly mix beef with season-

ings; divide into 16 parts. Shape into rectangular patties the length of the rolls; top each of eight with two pickle strips, then remaining patties. Seal edges and roll to give frankfurter shape. Broil three to four inches from source of heat five minutes per side or until desired doneness. Serve in rolls, spread with mustard.

Combine cabbage, pickles, mayonnaise and mustard, mix well and set aside.

Mix together chuck, salt, onion salt and pepper. Shape into six squares (the shape and size of bread slices). Broil or pan fry meat squares to desired doneness.

Place one slice cheese on each slice toast; broil one or two minutes or until cheese melts. Top each with square burger and one-third cup of pickle slaw. Garnish with a slice of pickle, if desired.

BURGER PUPS
2 pounds ground chuck
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon onion salt
Dash pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire
8 hot dog rolls, split and toasted
1 dill pickles, quartered lengthwise
Mustard

Lightly mix beef with season-

ings; divide into 16 parts. Shape into rectangular patties the length of the rolls; top each of eight with two pickle strips, then remaining patties. Seal edges and roll to give frankfurter shape. Broil three to four inches from source of heat five minutes per side or until desired doneness. Serve in rolls, spread with mustard.

MEATBALLS IN CIDER SAUCE
2 pounds beef chuck
3/4 pounds smoked ham
3 slices bread
2 cups water
1 medium onion
Fat or oil
2 medium sized potatoes
2 eggs
2 teaspoons salt
Freshly ground pepper
1/4 cup tomato juice
6 tablespoons butter
Cider Sauce

Have meals ground together twice. Soak bread in water. Mince onion; sauté in fat or oil. Cook potatoes and mash.

In deep bowl, beat eggs with salt, pepper and tomato juice. Add meat and bread and water. Mix with large fork; stir in mashed potatoes. Work gently

Lenten Food Idea

Sardines Creole Recipe From Louisiana

The Louisiana Purchase brought America more than a special dish from the Acadian Evangeline country a little farther north. With it came some of the most notable foods that have ever graced an American dining table. These are the many dishes that can perk up an otherwise everyday sort of year as well. Here is the recipe.

NORWAY SARDINES CREOLE

3 tablespoons butter
2 large onions, sliced thin
2 large green peppers, sliced thin
2 large tomatoes, sliced
6 heads fresh mushrooms, minced
Salt, pepper to taste
Worcestershire sauce
1 small can okra
2 cans Norway sardines (3 1/4 oz. each)
1 lemon, sliced thin
Extra melted butter

Melt three tablespoons butter; add onion slices; stir until rings are transparent and tender.

Remove seeds and membrane from green peppers; cut into thin slices; add to cooked onion with tomato slices.

Sauté minced mushrooms in butter in another pan until brown and tender; add to onion-pepper mixture. Salt and pepper to taste; add few drops Worcestershire sauce. Cook slowly until tomatoes and peppers done, about 25 minutes. Slice canned okra; add to sauce; bring mixture to boil.

Pour mixture into shallow serving dish. Place sardines on top and then trim with lemon slices. Pour a little melted butter over all. Serve hot.

WINE On the Table

By William Clifford

Let wine be your strong silent partner in the modern trend to lighter foods and lighter meals. Dishes cooked with wine needn't all be so heavy and hearty as Burgundy beef stew — toothsome as that is.

Wine cooking heightens the taste of the main ingredient, whatever it may be. All wines add aroma and a touch of tartness; some add a delicate sweetness as well.

Wine also affects the appearances of food, as when you base a roast chicken, turkey, or duck with red wine to make it extra brown. Or when you flavor and color an aspic with rose wine.

Add sherry, Madeira, or red wine to soups, a tablespoon to a serving. Use white wine in veal stew, chicken fricassée, or any fish dish. California's famous fish stew, cioppino, conchione fish and red wine — an unusual but compatible marriage.

Here's a magic wine recipe that works with three of the lighter main dish favorites — chicken, veal or fish.

QUICK GOURMET CUTLETS IN WINE
1 1/2 pounds boned chicken breasts, small veal cutlets or fish fillets

3/4 cup white wine or dry vermouth
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons olive oil
Flour
Salt, pepper to taste
2 tablespoons minced shallots or scallions
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup chopped parsley

If veal cutlets used, pound thin.

Pour wine or vermouth over meat; marinate for at least half hour.

Heat butter plus olive oil in large skillet. Drain meat, saving marinade for later use. Flour meat lightly and add to pan, sauté until barely cooked through, about three minutes on each side of chicken and veal, three minutes on one side only for fish. Remove to hot serving plate; salt and pepper to taste.

Place minced shallots or scallions in skillet; cook for two minutes. Add marinade, lemon juice and cook two minutes more. Add parsley, mixing well. Pour over meat.

Members of Junior Troop 49 of St. Joseph School gathered Saturday to work on sewing badges. At the session, the girls were instructed in such basic techniques as the parts of the sewing machine, how to use pattern books, proper use of equipment and how to make various seams. At right, Kathleen Koleske, Diane Theiss and Mary Carew work with scissors, measuring tape and marker to cut fabric to size. A colander can be inverted over a skillet when frying anything where grease is popping—bacon, chicken, etc. Heat escapes but spatters are caught on the colander. This saves cleaning the stove.

'Will-Wait' Recipes for Filing

BY MARY-BETH KUESTER or napkin and keep in a cool spot.
If dinner guests might be late, plan a menu with this in mind: all your guests will feel well-served when you serve a "will wait" recipe.
Chops can be broiled on arrival. Served with a gelatin salad from the refrigerator and a dessert that needs no last-minute touches, dinner is freshly ready when guests finally arrive. Choose a casserole which can be kept warm on an electric warming tray or in a warm oven.

Mary-Beth Kuester

Some foods can be salvaged. If the entire is a roast, wait to carve until guests arrive. A roast will retain some heat for quite awhile. Serve your gravy sizzling hot and no one will notice the warm roast.

Most foods can be kept warm in tightly covered containers over hot, not boiling water. You can keep vegetables for 15 minutes to a half hour in this manner. If you must hold them longer, add a can of cream soup or French dressing.

To hold rolls, wrap them in foil and keep warm on electric warming tray or in the oven.

Even spaghetti will wait. Drain in colander. Place over a pan containing a small amount of boiling water. Coat spaghetti with small amount of butter to keep strands from sticking.

Tea sandwiches will stay fresh without curling if you cover with dampened tea towel

Freeze until frozen one-half inch from sides of tray. Spoon into blender jar. Cover. Blend at high speed one minute until smooth but not melted. Stop once or twice to scrape down sides of jar.

Fold into whipped cream. Pour into six-ounce waxed drinking cups. Insert drinking straw in center of cup. Straw should be two to three inches above sherbet. Freeze until firm.

To serve: Insert fresh or artificial flowers in straw. Variation: Limeade Cream Sherbet — Substitute limeade and green food coloring.

QUICK VICHYSOISE
1 cup leftover mashed potatoes
1/4 cup cut-up scallions
1 cup boiling chicken consommé

1/2 to 1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 cup heavy cream

Measure potatoes and scallions into blender jar. Cover. Remove cover insert. Add boiling broth while blending at low speed one and one-half minutes.

Add salt and milk. Cover. Blend at high speed 15 seconds. Stir in cream. Refrigerate.

Recipe makes four to six servings.

Place gelatin, sugar and salt in blender jar. Replace cover without insert. Add boiling water. Blend on low speed one minute. Add concentrate, milk and coloring. Cover. Blend at high speed 10 seconds.

New Duplicate Bridge Game Scheduled at Y

A new duplicate bridge game for those who would like to try duplicate will begin at 7 30 p.m. Tuesday at the YMCA. The eight-week instruction and playing session will be directed by James Burrows, a sanctioned tournament director and bridge instructor at the Y.

The only requirement is that interested persons have played some bridge. It is preferable to register in advance with a partner; however, single players will be accommodated.

The game will be sanctioned by the American Contract Bridge League and Junior game points given on a Junior game basis.

The game is intended for those who have little or no duplicate bridge experience. Instruction will include the mechanics of duplicate, learning the rules and actually playing the hands and comparing them with other players in the room.

Those wishing further information have been asked to call Mrs. Maxine Vanevenhoven at the Y.

Legion Auxiliary Juniors Pick Poppy Princesses

Three young women were recognized Saturday when the American Legion Junior Auxiliary Unit 38 met at the College Avenue clubhouse.

For the first time, the group elected and crowned two poppy princesses. They are Teresa Rolf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rolf, and Bonnie Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schmidt. Diana Schmidt, Bonnie's sister, came up with the prize winning poppy hat entry. All of the girls are eligible to compete for regional awards at the junior district conference to be held April 19 in Shiocton.

The juniors' community service project for the meeting was the making of Easter cards for the Plamann school, under the direction of Mrs. Roland Menting.

An announcement was made that juniors interested in entering at the Outagamie County Golden Age Home should contact Mrs. Marion VanderLois, junior activities chairman.

Next meeting of the group is scheduled for April 5.

Church to Sponsor Evening for Seniors

Senior high students are invited to attend "Folk Play and Dance" from 7 to 10 p.m. Sunday in the fellowship room of the First Congregation United Church of Christ.

The fund raising program for Kentucky will feature music; of the month and is open to British women married to American or Canadian service or ex-servicemen.

Mrs. Florian Keberlein Elected to Serve As TBPA President

Mrs. Florian Keberlein has been elected president of the Transatlantic Brides and Parents Association (TBPA). Assisting her will be Mrs. James Moody, secretary; Mrs. Gene West, treasurer; Mrs. Carl Krueger, publicity; Mrs. Donald Hanson, sunshine. Mrs. Miles Vokral and Mrs. David Murphy will continue to serve as area representatives.

Mrs. Murphy also will retain chairmanship over the distribution of "Together Again," the club's official publication published monthly to give members news of club activities on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean.

The club meets in the homes of members the second Tuesday of the month and is open to British women married to American or Canadian service or ex-servicemen.

Keep Your Cold Guard Up Flu Season Not Over Yet

With a month to go before the winter can be considered over, doctors recommend that we continue to keep our cold guard up. This includes not kissing anyone who has a cold. The medical men suggest that we find other ways to show affection.

Children are the greatest cold spreaders. If a child between one and four has a cold, there is a good chance that other members of the family will catch it. In fact, the chances are one in five, according to a study reported on by Dr. John H. Dingle of Western Reserve University's departments of preventive medicine and medicine.

Very Contagious
Colds are particularly contagious in their early stages, and they can be passed on from person to person even across a room. Rationing kisses, therefore, won't guarantee a cold-free existence.

Other measures need to be taken to keep up your resistance. Getting enough sleep, dressing according to the weather to avoid chilling, overheating and dampness and keeping rooms well-ventilated will help. Remember, too, that fresh air is an important cold deterrent.

But, should you take all precautions and still develop a cold, don't ignore it. Colds can lead to serious complications.

Rest in bed, or at least getting extra hours of sleep and rest, lots of liquids, aspirin, and a bland nose drop or spray are proven "therapy" for cold symptoms. And, if you've decided to substitute hand shaking for kissing during the cold season, keep in mind that hands too, are potent conveyors of germs and should be washed often, preferably with an antibacterial skin cleanser. Until April is with us, you might want to try putting your affection in writing for those old enough to read.

Student Scrub-In

The latest "in" is a "scrub-in" — conducted by 300 student volunteers at a junior high in Michigan. According to the school principal, this clean-up operation — which involved lots of suds and plenty of fun — helped to teach the youngsters appreciation and respect for school and public property in general.

Sheinwold Automatic Redouble Is Costly

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

On my recent cruise to the Far East I discovered that one of the best bridge players in Tokyo reacts angrily when an opponent has the gall to double him. "Redouble — and down two!" he shouts. This is an expensive habit, but it may be cheaper than going to the psychiatrist.

In today's hand the double warned South that something evil was about to happen. If South had taken the double seriously (as he should have), he would have run to four notrump, which he would have made, instead of redoubling.

West doubled because the bidding told him that the opponents held at least seven spades. This meant that East had a singleton spade at most. West expected to open the ace of spades and then lead the ace of spades for East to ruff. This high spade continuation would call for a return in the higher of the two other side suits — diamonds rather than clubs. West would get in with the ace of diamonds to lead another spade, and East's second ruff would defeat the contract.

Big Difference
 All of this came to pass, and West eventually got a trick with the king of clubs to sweeten the pot. West collected a penalty of 1,000 points because South was too angry to think logically. At four notrump South would have scored 630 instead of losing a thousand points.

You're entitled to a moral for reading so sad a story. A sensible player's double warns you to expect an unusually bad break. Don't redouble unless you know something about the hand that the doubler doesn't know — such as a void suit or an unusual location of the high trumps. If you have no sur- prises for the doubler, look for a rescue rather than for a re-double.

As dealer you hold: S-Q J 10 9, H-A K Q 5, D-Q J 6, C-A Q.

What do you say?
 Answer: Bid 2-NT. This bid usually shows 22 to 24 points, and you have only 21 points, but the ten and nine of spades should make up for the missing four notrump South would have point.

Accurate Records Demonstrate What Your Income Buys

BY JEAN GUISTI
Home Economics Agent
Calumet County

A candy bar a day may not cost much, but it adds up to over $35 a year. Do you know where your money goes?

It's important to keep accurate records to know what your income is spent for, according to Jean Guisti, Calumet County Home Economics agent. Records are valuable for immediate financial planning and also for long-range goals. They demonstrate what wages, salaries, interest from your income buys and may show how much is wasted and where it's wasted.

Keep Records

Keeping accurate records is important. However, don't worry about accounting for every penny. Records are important to account for income money the family receives from wages, salaries, interest from money loaned, dividends, rent, gifts, money borrowed and money from savings accounts. You can use your records as a basis for making your spending plan for next year. And as a check on how successful your plan is. It may help family members develop good spending habits.

Your family's spending record may also help you do your income tax returns by showing items such as medical expenses and contributions.

Remember though, it's not good enough to merely keep good records. You must use them to aid in evaluating your spending and improving your use of money so you get more of what you really want.

Develop Plan

Knowing your family's net worth will be a big help in developing a spending plan and making decisions. Determining your assets and what they are worth may be more difficult than determining your liabilities. Listing liquid assets such as bank accounts is easy, but it's more difficult to put a value on your home and its furnishings and equipment.

Use one of two methods to estimate the value of your personal property. One method is to estimate what the property would sell for at the time. The other method is to value the property at the price you paid for it minus the depreciation or plus appreciation. Use either method, but remember to use the same method over a period of time so you can make comparisons.

What you own includes your house and other real estate, furniture and equipment, your

Baked Sausage

When you want to bake pork sausage links, place them on a rack in a shallow pan in a 400 degree oven until they're well browned—usually about half an hour. This is a convenient way to prepare the sausage links when you are serving a bigger-than-usual group at brunchtime.

You may also include cash on hand, cash value of annuity or retirement plans, money owed you and other assets such as jewelry and works of art.

Consider what you owe. This will be important if you want to establish additional credit. It may also point up a need for better planning so you'll be able to pay off debts sooner. Included in what you owe are real estate, unpaid installments, unpaid notes, unpaid bills, past due taxes, rent and interest—any money borrowed on life insurance.

For many families, the net worth includes only family assets and liabilities. For others—farm families or independent business families—this also includes business assets and liabilities.

Heat butter in chafing dish (or large skillet); brown meat balls all around, turning carefully and shaking to keep round shape. Lift out and keep warm until sauce is ready. Recipe makes about 24 meat balls. Serve with Cider Sauce.

CIDER SAUCE

4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
3 cups meat stock or bouillon cubes
¼ cup cider

Heat butter in saucepan; stir in flour to make paste; cook slowly for five to six minutes. Add three cups stock, carefully blending with each small amount at time; stir rapidly until smooth and slightly thickened. Stir in cider (this may be sherry if wine sauce preferred) and cook few minutes.

BEEF-AND-RICE DINNER

2 tablespoons butter
or margarine
¼ cup finely chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt, divided
¼ cup molasses
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
1 cup raw rice

Melt butter in large skillet; add onion and green pepper and cook until onion is tender, but not brown.

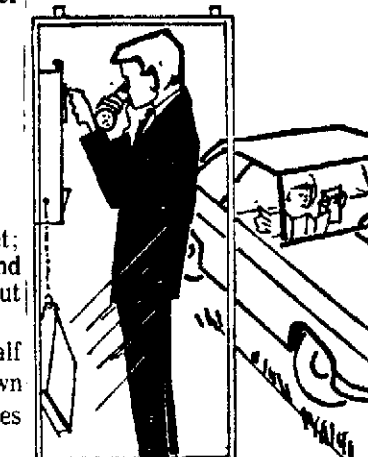

Add ground beef and one-half teaspoon of the salt. Brown beef, breaking up into pieces with a fork.

While beef is browning, combine molasses and prepared mustard. Add to beef mixture with tomatoes and remaining salt. Stir in rice. Cover; reduce heat and simmer 25 minutes, or until rice is tender. Recipe makes six servings.

COG Doubtful on $200 Million Issue

Policy Committee Favors Only Bonding for Pollution Control

Members of the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) policy committee agreed Tuesday afternoon that they should support only the anti-pollution portion of the state's proposed $200 million bond issue.

Lacking a quorum, they agreed that the $144 million facilities for municipalities warranted support, but questioned whether the $56 million for park and recreation needs was necessary.

Gov. Warren Knowles has been pushing for support for the bond issue in an advisory referendum April 1. The money would be borrowed by the state under the Outdoor Recreation Act Program (ORAP) 200 to provide grants to municipalities, in lieu of the slow-to-arrive but promised federal support.

Support Measure

Fiscal 1969 federal allocations for Wisconsin were sufficient to finance only 12 of 93 needed projects. The bonding would virtually eliminate the need for priorities.

Kaukauna Mayor Gilbert Anderson and Town of Menasha Chairman Roland Kamp said they had serious reservations about how repayment would be financed.

"I agree with the essential ideas of this thing but the financing is another thing," commented Anderson.

Kampo said he did not want to stick his neck out to support the entire $200 million without enough information on what it is going to cost the taxpayers in the area.

Boost Opposed

"I favor the concept of cleaning up pollution, but not on how they're going to raise taxes," he said.

Both men hinted they would not support the $56 million bond issue for parks and recreation. The expressions will be

Thein Placed on Probation for Pro Shop Crime

Steve Thein, 18, 724 S. Mason St., who last Friday was found guilty of burglarizing the Pro Shop at Butte des Morts Golf Club, was placed on three years probation Tuesday.

Circuit Court Judge Andrew W. Parnell, first sentenced Thein to two years in the State Reformatory at Green Bay, but then stayed sentence and imposed probation with the condition that Thein pay all court costs.

Outagamie County and Grand Chute police caught Thein and Michael VanDenzon, 18, 1304 W. Commercial St., inside the Pro Shop early last Feb. 5. VanDenzon was charged with the burglary last Friday, after Thein was found guilty in Circuit Court, but the charge was dismissed Monday.

VanDenzon reportedly was working as an Appleton Police Department informant at the time of the burglary.

County Squad Hits Parked Car

An Outagamie County policeman escaped injury early Tuesday when the squad car he was driving slammed into the rear of a parked car on Outagamie County Trunk A, just north of W. College Avenue.

Patrolman Thomas J. Janusheske, 27, route 1, Hortonville, stated he was southbound on A when he struck the rear of an auto owned by the Yellow Cab Co. of Appleton. He said the car was parked on the roadway without the parking lights operating.

Damage to the 1968 squad car totaled about $330, while there was about $75 damage to the cab.

Arizona Man Fined For Game Violation

Joseph F. Haase, 50, Phoenix, Ariz., forfeited a $42 bond in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Tuesday on a charge of purchasing and fishing with an improper license.

A state conservation warden said the offense occurred June 23, 1968. The charge was brought following a cross-check between state tax and license information.

Kaukauna Grass Fire

KAUKAUNA — A grass fire, believed to have been started by sparks from an ash can burning in the area, was extinguished by firemen at 1028 Hennes Court about 3:55 p.m. Monday.

Three Women Are Fined $50 For Shoplifting

Three women were each fined $50 and costs in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Tuesday after pleading guilty of shoplifting at K Mart.

Barbara Abendroth, 31, 2914 N. Casaloma Drive, stole two scarfs and a slip, valued at a total of $3.72, on March 5.

Marlys A. Behm, 25, Weyauwega, stole a pair of children's shoes, valued at $1.96, on March 6.

May S. Olson, 28, 1202 N. State St., was apprehended after she stole a 96-cent set of earrings March 7. All of the complaints were brought by security officials at K Mart.

Chamber Retail Unit To Plan Promotions

KAUKAUNA — The retail division of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Chamber offices to discuss 1969 business promotions and set up a budget for the year.

Special promotions already planned include a "Spring Fling" sale March 20-22, "Town 'N' Country Days" June 6-8, a "Moonlight Madness" sale from 7 to 11 p.m. April 28 and a Sidewalk Sale on July 31.

State Chamber Backs County Assessor Bill

Support Thrown Behind Suggestion Of Tarr Task Force

MADISON — The Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce has filed a strongly worded brief with the legislature explaining the concern of the business and industrial community about an efficient and accurate method of property assessment it says can be assured through the adoption of pending legislation providing for county administration of a professional property valuation system.

Such a bill offered by the Tarr commission on local government finance and reform would replace the traditional system of local government assessors, some of them untrained, many working part-time, and some of them elected to their offices.

The Chamber said that the ideal of "home rule in meaningful form will depend on our ability and our willingness to act in making our local governments as effective and efficient as possible."

The organization of businessmen noted that the property assessment system has not been changed in half a century, although this year it will be responsible for the collection of a billion dollars in property taxes, the largest single sum yielded for state or local purposes.

"The importance of property valuation in the fiscal relationship between state and local government, and the magnitude of the task, have become far too great to continue the determination of property values by underpaid assessors working on a part-time basis with no effective requirement for professional qualifications," the organization asserted.

Accurate assessment involves equity in the sharing of property tax burdens, the Chamber reminded, and is also deeply involved in state financial management, as in the distribution of state aids.

It also is involved in the management of the increasing volume of state and local government debt, the Chamber noted, in evident recognition that the measure which failed to get the approval of the legislature two years ago may again fall victim to the resistance of many of the officials of smaller localities and many of the 1,800 independent local assessors.

Changing Doctors? Here's How to Do It

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do you consider an ethical way to change doctors? — T.O.
This isn't a matter of ethics. Rather, it is a matter of tact and diplomacy.
For example, if you want a doctor whose office is nearer to your home, there's no reason you can't tell your doctor and ask him to refer you to one in a suitable location.
Or, as is sometimes the case, if you would prefer to go to a certain hospital in case of need, you could reasonably ask to be referred to a physician who is on the staff of that hospital.
But if you are simply dissatisfied with a physician and don't care to give him a reason for changing, all you have to do is stop going to him and make an appointment with the new doctor.

Patients change doctors right along without ceremony. Some, in fact, change too often and don't give themselves or the doctor the benefit of a good relationship.

Dr. Thosteson

As to going to two doctors at the same time, without their knowledge, don't do it. It doesn't hurt the doctors, but it can hurt you, because you might be getting medication from both of them. I've known this to happen, with unfortunate results.
The above, of course, does not apply to instances in which your regular physician refers you to a specialist. In that case the doctors know about it and can guard against double medication or conflicting medication or therapy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I understand that high potency vitamin B-6 with other vitamins, calcium, etc., has been used with good success on patients with different kinds of arthritis. Can you enlighten me on this? — Mrs. A.A.

There have been claims made for all sorts of "arthritis treatments" but I know of no evidence to indicate that vitamins are of any help — unless, of course, the patient happens to be deficient in vitamins to start with.

To help people sort out the things that really help from the things that won't, I've just revised my old arthritis leaflet into a full booklet which goes into all the common types of arthritis and some that aren't very common. For a copy of it, called, "How You Can Control Arthritis," send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Post-Crescent.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I thought Lanoxin was a new name for digitalis but my druggist says it is not. My doctor calls it digitalis and I take it to prevent my heart from beating a little too fast. — M.F.

Quite likely your druggist meant that it is not a new form of digitalis rather than it is not digitalis. For, you see, it is digitalis, which is available in different forms for different purposes. They can vary, for example, in the speed with which they are used by the system. The doctor may call for the type he wants for you, by its trade name, although it is still digitalis.

Another commonly used form of digitalis is Digoxin, about which another reader asked. The answer is the same: it is digitalis but prepared in a different way and with somewhat different properties, although the basic action is, of course, the same.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the minimum time to cook pork chops 1/2 to 3/8 inches thick to kill trichinosis infection? — M.K.

A half hour is about the minimum for chops — but since both heat and thickness can vary, the surer test is to cook until the meat is white (not pink) all the way through. Pork is a wholesome meat.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Post-Crescent for your copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Supermarket Romeos Go Where the Girls Are

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The office wolf is being replaced by the supermarket wolf. He prowls the aisles with his small shopping cart looking for new conquests. Why does he haunt the supermarkets? For the same reason that sailors in summer go rowboating in Central Park—because that's where the girls are.

If you want to be on the safe side, never buy a secondhand car from a salesman who wears a diamond ring.

Last to get married is the girl who uses a toothpick in public, but there seem to be a lot of them around lately.

If the pocket watch isn't going to stage a comeback, why do clothes keep turning out suits with watch pockets in them? They are about as useless today as earmuffs on hens.

Better Writers
Girls who graduate from parochial schools have better penmanship than those who went to public schools.

People who voluntarily live in the suburbs are masochists. They complain about being prisoners of a railroad timetable, but actually they enjoy this form of punishment. In some mysterious way the suffering makes them feel noble.

I always wonder why pigeons like to hang around church steps but never stroll in and listen to a sermon. Perhaps it is because, unlike people, they lead such simple lives they don't need sermons.

Why is it that no airline hostesses have developed into champion long-distance runners? After all, many of them now dog trot from New York to Los Angeles on jet flights.

Over the Hill
If it makes you uncomfortable to sit on the same park bench with two young lovers, you're probably over the hill yourself.

The fame of the pioneer isn't always lasting. Who remembers the first robin of spring after the fourth and fifth arrive?

The dog's best friend may be man, but a woman's best friend in an emergency is usually the safety pin.

The most colorful character in America today is still Casey Stengel, the old-time baseball player and manager. He's a Hall of Fame all by himself.

Girls have got another reason today for wanting to get wed—so they'll have a man around the house to help them pull off those tight high boots which so many wear now.

You can tell the quality of a restaurant by the cornbread sticks it serves. If they are fresh, tasty and free from grease, you can bet your last dollar that the rest of the meal will be fine, too.

New Generation
We're bringing up a whole generation of young ladies who think a broom is just something witches use as a vehicle on Halloween.

Experience is a priceless commodity, but nothing deteriorates in value more surely. No matter how much it cost you to acquire, you cannot leave it to your heirs and get much gratitude from them.

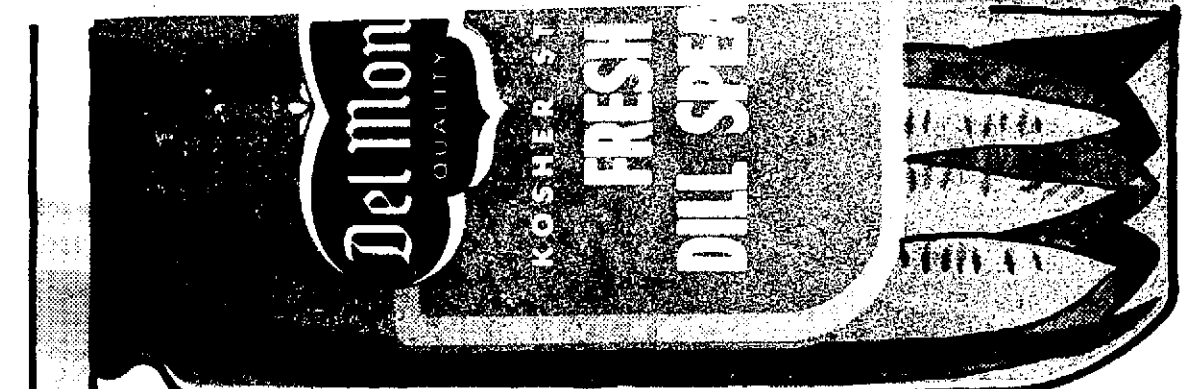

The guy who makes a point of always getting to the office five minutes early and leaving five minutes after quitting time will probably never become head of the firm. Anyone that cautious doesn't have enough adventure in him to become a leader.

Increased efficiency doesn't necessarily bring added joy. Half the fun of fighting insects went out when the sprayer gun replaced the old-fashioned fly swatter, which gave the enemy a sporting chance of survival.

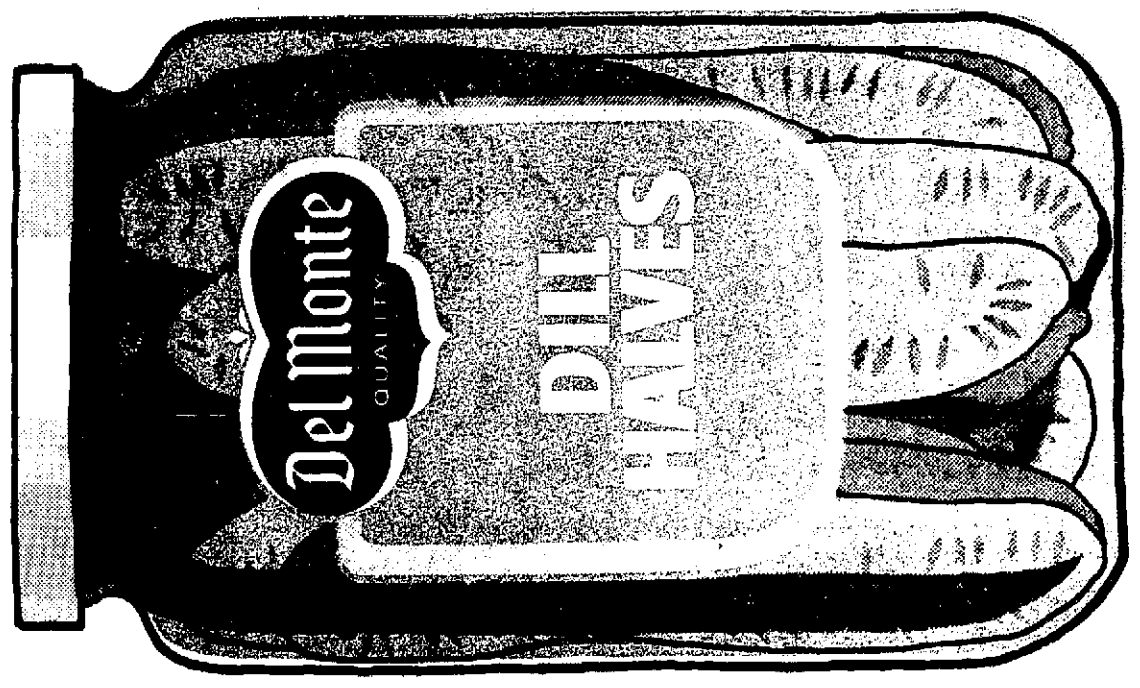

Nature at last has come up with two things that go together even better than ham and eggs or apple pie and cheese—March breezes and miniskirts.

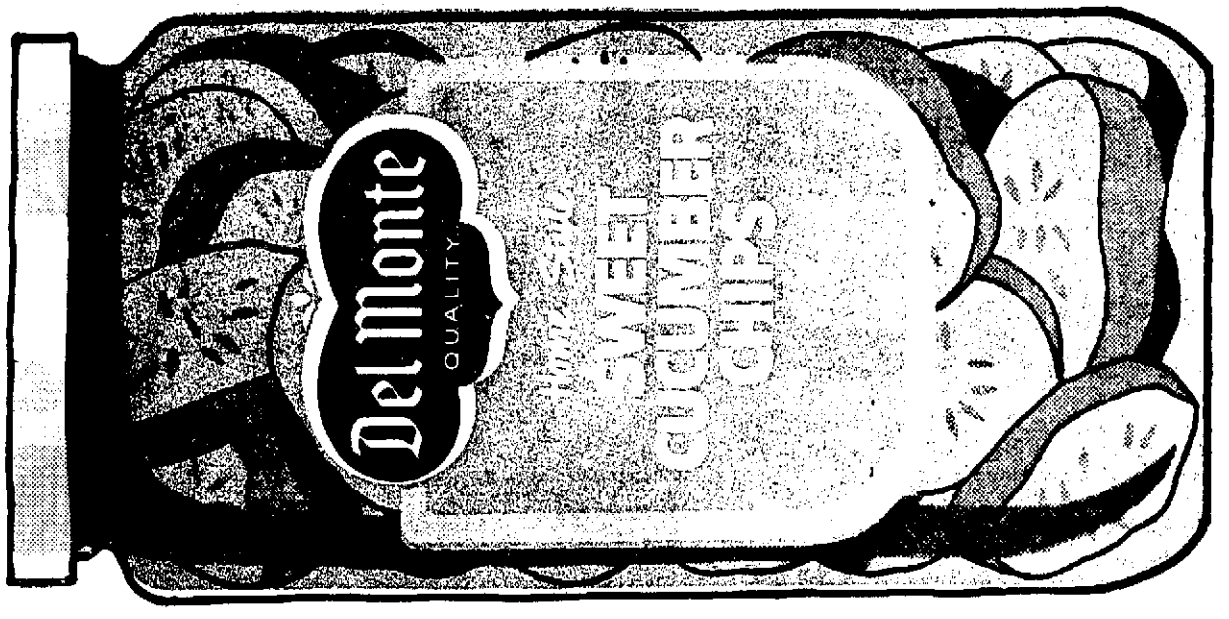

I'M THE FINEST—AND THAT'S O-FISH-AL!

Jobless Rates Pushed Up by Minimum Pay

Teen-Agers Hurt Most as Employers React to Laws

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — An argument persists that the minimum wage laws designed to upgrade the conditions of the nation's lowest paid workers actually may be costing them jobs.

The reasoning goes this way: Rather than pay the minimum wage of $1.60 an hour, some small-business men prefer instead to eliminate the job or install labor saving machinery.

The argument is far from being clear cut, but there are some disturbing evidences that jobs are being lost, if not as part of a general pattern then at least in numerous cases.

Among those stating that this is the case is the National Federation of Independent Business, which claims membership of more than 200,000. The federation says it is especially disturbed about teen-age unemployment.

A survey of 7,049 NFIB members show a slight decrease in the number of teen-agers employed last year. The decrease hardly seems significant, however, for 53 per cent said their teen-age employment remained the same.

Wage Increases

The figure that arouses the emotions of federation officials is that 40 per cent of the reductions allegedly were caused by increases in the minimum wage, from $1.25 in 1966 to $1.40 in 1967 and $1.60 in 1968.

A federation spokesman was asked why such seemingly small wage increases would cause significant decreases in teen-age jobs. The difference between $1.25 an hour and $1.60, for instance, amounts to just $728 a year.

His answer was that for some small and marginal businesses that figure could represent a fairly large portion of profits. More to the point, he said, is that many teen-agers are sometimes totally unproductive.

In small communities, he maintained, youngsters sometimes are employed by local businessmen because of a sense of responsibility to the community and a desire to be helpful.

Do Without

When such employers are faced not just with higher wages, but with more red tape as well, he said, they prefer to do without teen-agers. The consequences, he added, are these:

—Teen-agers are forced into idleness, which contributes a great deal to teen-age unrest.

—The amount and quality of services deteriorates. Supermarkets, for example, are less inclined to deliver grocery orders.

—Apprenticeship programs suffer. Youngsters often acquire their first training at small local businesses.

"Small business per se is not hurt," he said. "It's the economy that is being damaged. The small-business man is doing without teen-age help; he's not suffering."

In areas of population concentration, he maintains, this problem might not be so acute. But "in the hinterlands," he argues, the minimum wage laws are causing considerable teen-age job problems.

Make an Exception

What is his solution? "An exception might be made so that apprentices are exempt from minimum wage provisions for the first six months of their employment," he said.

No doubt about it, teen-age unemployment is high, and despite some improvement is remaining at a rate many times that for other workers. Here, for example, is the unemployment rate for men 20 years or over:

In 1963 the percentage of jobless was 4.5 per cent. In 1964 this fell to 3.9, to 3.2 in 1965, to 2.5 in 1966 and 2.3 in 1967. By December 1968 it had fallen to an annual rate of 1.8 per cent, but moved up to 2 in January.

Teen-age unemployment, by contrast, was 15.6 per cent in 1963. It fell to 14.7 in 1964, rose to 14.8 in 1965, dropped to 12.7 in 1966, rose to 12.9 in 1967 and was 12.7 in December 1968. It fell to 11.7 in January.

It is worth noting, however, that minimum wage increases in February 1967 and 1968 seemed to have little permanent effect on the jobless rate.

In February 1967, for instance, it did jump from 11 to 13.2, but a month later it was

Powell Disappoints Would-be Listeners

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A sell-out crowd of nearly 1,000 gathered at the University of Missouri-Kansas City Sunday to hear Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., give the final lecture in an Afro-American series.

Powell didn't show up. The crowd waited an hour, then left. Officials said the ticket money would be refunded.

Efforts to reach Powell in New York, Washington and Miami failed. His fee would have been $1,750.

down to 10.7. In 1968 the rate rose from 11.3 in January to 12.6 in February, but two months later it was back to 11.9.

One obvious conclusion, regardless of the effect of minimum wage laws, a serious problem exists in the teen-age job market, and equally obvious, more headway in solving these problems must be made.

Quick Responses Are Vital To Defense in Civil Suits

Some law suits may take a long time since lawyers try to keep their clients out of them. Even when there is a lawsuit, a lawyer may try to work out a part of which was the settlement favorable to ment

If a person is sued he must respond quickly. His failure to answer a summons or a complaint may mean a loss by default, and the plaintiff may well get a judgment for all that he sought.

How can the loser get the court to set aside such a default judgment? He can do so by showing that the plaintiff misled him or that he did not in fact ignore the complaint, but illness, excusable negligence, or a mistake caused the default. As a rule, a judgment stands if not appealed.

Thus, Mrs. Smith sued for a divorce, and the couple agreed the settlement omitted some of complaint and summons to the property. Suspecting her husband, she sued to set aside found, and the plaintiff serves the first judgment. The court ruled that there was fraud in obtaining the first judgment. The case could begin anew.

Now and then the defendant fails to respond to the default judgment. Later the defendant may show the court that is not properly served with the defendant.

A judgment in a civil case cannot easily be upset.

As a rule, fraud is the only reason for a court to set aside a judgment. Even though one finds new evidence, mistakes, or flaws in a law, a civil judgment is usually still valid and proceedings come to an end.

Nixon Softened Berlin Harassment

The harassment of West Germans by East Germans, who have the tacit backing of the Soviet Union, apparently was intended to emphasize once again that Berlin lies 110 miles within East Germany.

There were many threats of retaliation against the West Germans if they went ahead with their plans to hold the election of a president in West Berlin. Traffic on the autobahn was halted several times for a couple of hours at a time. East German and Russian officials repeatedly said they would have no responsibility if incidents should occur along the air routes as well.

But the West German electors flew to Berlin without opposition. And the surprising thing has been the general tone of approval in the Russian press about their choice of president.

Izvestia did say that the election was "an unworthy spectacle in three acts." But in speaking of Social Democrat Gustav Heinemann, who triumphed over Gerhard Schröder in the election, Izvestia said "the fact that the West German Social Democrats adhere to a sounder stand on several questions" made Heinemann's choice by far the better one.

There has been concern over a possible East German blockade of West Berlin goods being shipped to West Germany. One truck with a load of clothing was turned back with the claim that it contained "illegal military goods," which was nonsense. The further isolation of West Berlin through trade restrictions could only serve to increase tensions in the area and seriously harm the West Berlin economy, which in its strength is an embarrassment to East Germany.

But an East German newspaper commented that, while the election was an obvious "provocation," that East Germany would not be deterred from its peaceful path.

It seems likely that the current efforts of the United States and the Soviet Union to find some way of getting to the negotiating table to discuss disarmament is a factor in the softer line now emanating from East Berlin and Moscow. The Russian press has duly reported President Nixon's European trip without much criticism. Tass also reported that President Nixon sees prospects for talks with the Russians on a number of issues.

The confrontations, such as occurred over the election, are always dangerous because the emotional attitudes can overcome reason and build up incidents out of proportion to their importance. West Germany and its allies acted with restraint and firmness in not being deterred from carrying out the election in West Berlin. It now appears that the Communists are responding in the understanding that larger issues are at stake.

Maier's Difficulties With Milwaukee Press Not New in His Career

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — In many respects, Mayor Henry Maier of Milwaukee is the most remarkable man in Wisconsin politics.

There is something so egregiously self-centered and bold about the man in Milwaukee city hall as to cause the onlooker to wonder what kind of a career he might have followed had he been born some centuries earlier. Prime minister to a Bavarian king, perhaps? Conquistador of the Spanish Main? Abbot of a worldly medieval order?

Maier is a man of many qualities. He can alternately be the congenial friend, and the super-critical enemy. After more than two decades in the burly-burly of politics, it might be assumed that his skin had thickened — even a little. Politics is not for the sensitive, those easily hurt, those whose pride is easily offended. But Maier remains as tender and as susceptible to slights, real or fancied, as he was there is something credible about such a reported dream of Mr. Maier, however impracticable it may be and however unlikely the plan is to be consummated.

DOESN'T LIKE REPORTERS
Mr. Maier never liked newspapers and especially reporters as this representative of the breed among many others can amply show.

When the man who is now mayor of Milwaukee came to Madison as a state senator, it was in the nature of his personality to want to be the leader of his party in the Senate, however modest the honor was in those times.

At least one of his colleagues passed over the chance to win the job, feeling that it was not worth a quarrel with Maier to be chosen the captain of a corporal's guard of Democrats in a house ruled by the Republicans by a margin approaching three to one. But there was a publicity dividend in the assignment as Maier, already planning his future, was shrewdly aware.

DIDN'T LIKE COVERAGE

But the ambitious young politician promptly ran into difficulties, not because the publicity failed to come, but because he could not control it. In those years the acknowledged leader of the Capitol press corps was a man since deceased, but universally respected by his colleagues as a thoroughly careful, conscientious, and responsible reporter.

My late friend was assigned to covering the Senate, including Maier. But his work fell short of the measure Maier had unilaterally set for reporters. A stream of complaints flowed from Madison to the office of the reporter's publisher.

They had no effect, of course. One of the cardinal rules of the newspaper business is that the editor stands behind his staff, knowing that the good reporter inevitably has his differences with some of the proud and ambitious men on a public affairs beat. But the experience rankled in the memory of the correspondent, nevertheless, and offended his many political and professional friends.

MIGHT HAVE FADED

Perhaps if my colleague's editor had fired him at the demand of the impetuous young state senator many years ago, the mayor of Milwaukee would not now be carrying on his public quarrel with his home town press and theatrically talking about founding his own news organ.

Wyngaard

when he was the untested amateur making up his mind about life in professional politics.

MAY START NEWSPAPER

These reflections are inspired by the astonishing revelations recently that Maier has been talking — perhaps threatening would be the better word — about establishing his own newspaper in Milwaukee because he feels he has not had fair treatment in the communication of his ideas to his constituency by the existing news organs there.

One account has it that he has talked about the possibility of using city funds for the financing of such a considerable enterprise. That would be a strange plan for the man who is organizing a new municipal lobby to appeal to the state to prevent the financial breakdown of his city and others, although it may not appear so novel to the constituents of his honor in a city where the word "socialism" more than half a century ago lost what shock value it ever had.

For a reporter who knew him in his fledgling days in the legislature, moreover,

Paul Harvey Wrote Letter In P-C Forum

Editor, The Post-Crescent:
The letter of March 3rd (the government can't get by on $600.00 per child as we are allotted) was excellent. I would like to have seen it occupy a more prominent place in the paper. It was so well done that it seems only fitting credit should be given where credit is due. That article was a reprint of a recent Paul Harvey news broadcast!

We can only surmise someone played a dirty trick on R. Heidemann when his name was used at the end of that "letter!"

Knowles Approach to UW Disorders Rapped

Editor, Post-Crescent:
Gov. Warren Knowles:

With all due respect to your proposed legislation that any student or faculty member who is convicted of a criminal offense be expelled from the U. of W., I suggest that you are attacking the problem wrong.

The reason why I say that your approach is wrong is that you are shifting the burden of responsibility from the University administration where it should be to the local city government and the taxpayers thereof.

As an attorney, you well know the costs of trials and to force the City of Madison, or any other city in the State of Wisconsin, to convict students or faculty members of criminal offenses before they are expelled from school is putting a great burden on the taxpayers, which is unnecessary in my opinion.

The approach I would suggest is that you make President Harrington earn his $48,000 a year salary, plus tax-free residence and tax-free automobile and chauffeur, by having him administer the University problems by setting up the rules, and enforcing these rules by expelling the students who violate these rules.

There is no constitutional right (as yet) to a college education; it is a privilege and if the students don't want to obey the rules of the University they should be promptly dismissed.

One of the rules that should be enforced with the greatest of vigor by President Harrington is the right of any student at the University to attend classes that he is enrolled in and any student or students preventing this student from doing this should be expelled after some form of administrative hearing.

The student demonstrators are, as you probably appreciate, very hypocritical because they are demanding rights for themselves at the expense of other students' rights. This situation should not be tolerated. I would hope that the universities of this country would learn what the cities of this country have learned in dealing with riots and that is to meet the minimum outburst with the maximum of force and your problems subside.

Giving in at the start only results in greater demands and greater problems for the University.

As for the faculty members who are supporting the students, it would be my suggestion that you propose legislation allowing the University to fire any professor with tenure who violates the rules of conduct set up by the Board of Regents for faculty members. At the beginning of this country, we learned that a house divided against itself cannot stand and despite the many years that have passed since then, this simple statement as a philosophy of university administration is a necessity, even though many of the left-wing liberal professors would disagree.

By having this legislation passed, you would have the professors put their economic security where their mouths and actions are now, instead of the present system of allowing them to resist the University's position on administering of students with no risk of their losing their tenure from this same University that is going to be paying them.

Tenure, as I understand it, was to allow professors academic freedom, but I don't think it was intended to allow professors to fight the University of Wisconsin administration policies. They can have academic freedom in their educational field without trying to destroy the University administration where they teach.

My suggestion for administering this legislation would be a commission consisting of two members of the Board of Regents, two members of the University administration and two members of the faculty, with a majority vote being needed to expel any professor for breaking rules of conduct which should be promulgated by the Board of Regents.

Thief Canceled Out

Stone previously had changed his name to McCombs and canceled the checking account.

Drug Users Choose Slow Suicide

The death of a youth from a prominent Eastern family, probably from a combination of LSD and opium smoking, once more has emphasized the growing drug problem on campuses.

Fairleigh Dickinson III, a freshman at Columbia University and a B student who had never been in trouble, was found dead after he is supposed to have taken a sugar cube soaked in LSD and then inhaled the fumes from smoldering opium.

Many students interviewed at Columbia indicate that drug use there is commonplace, especially the smoking of marijuana, and that perhaps as high as 85 per cent of the students all over the country have tried marijuana at least once.

While university officials are recognizing that the problem is serious, a lot of students do not. The editor of the Columbia daily newspaper said, "I think the administration feels there's a real problem. As far as the students are concerned, there's no feeling at all of any problem in the use of marijuana." Another commented that "it's a problem for a few people, when it gets out of hand. If a person just smokes grass once a week or so, there's probably no problem for him."

But the evidence of serious psychological and emotional damage and even changes in chromosomes, especially from the use of LSD or methamphetamine, casually called "speed," shows that drug use is a serious problem.

There is still little agreement as to the part marijuana plays in the use of other drugs or as to its long-lasting effects upon the user. Some institutions, such as Columbia, distinguish in disciplinary regulations between those who supply marijuana and those who deal in LSD or heroin, although most states list marijuana as a dangerous drug and have equal penalties for possessing or pushing it. Certainly there can no longer be doubt about the dangers of LSD when it is used without medical observation.

Recognizing the problem and solving it are too very different matters, however. Mayor John Lindsay, in commenting on Dickinson's death, said that "we must convince the young people who are using drugs — especially the most dangerous drugs, heroin, speed and LSD — that they are literally risking their lives." But why is there this drive toward self-destruction?

Many students today are disillusioned with their nation, the war, the profit motive, hypocrisy in government, business and education. We must also convince them that the solution is not the anesthesia and the slow suicide of drug abuse.

Anti-Chinese Racism Stirs Asia

The Chinese have generally stayed pretty much removed from local populations in such nations as Malaysia and Indonesia. Far more sophisticated in the business world than native populations, they have become in great part the storekeepers and the small industrialists in the countries under the colonial control of Great Britain, France and the Netherlands. But today the racial antagonisms are showing.

After the coup against local Communists and alleged Communists in Indonesia three years ago, the resentment against the Chinese boiled over into persecution of the Chinese minority on the grounds that it was largely Communist dominated, something never satisfactorily proven. Thousands were killed and driven from their homes and businesses, especially in the more remote areas of Indonesia.

Now the Chinese in Malaysia are feeling the pinch. Chinese Malaysians make up about 35 per cent of the population but they control by far the greater part of the nation's wealth. Individual Chinese argue that they are really Malaysians, that they neither speak nor write the Chinese language and that their families have lived in Malaysia for generations.

But the Malays are in the numerical majority and they are poor. The ruling political party, the Alliance, is a combination of Malays, Chinese and Indians but the Malays receive the government appointments and most of those in the police force and the army are also Malays. Recent government stress upon "Malaysianization" means that a certain percentage of all jobs must be filled by Malays. Land is being given to the Malays.

Government officials argue that the Malays have been underprivileged for so long that the program to help them could actually prevent a real outbreak of racial warfare. There is also the danger of extremist Islam groups influencing the Malays. The conflict between both racial and religious groups was the reason why Singapore could no longer be part of the Malaysian Federation.

The overseas Chinese number in the millions. To some extent their exclusivity has brought about the resentments, but it is mainly their prosperity, the result of hard work and the application of know-how. The antagonism is just one more threat to stability in many Asian nations.

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for March 13, 1869.

Here is what a leading State paper of the same party school (Democrat) has to say relative to false and malicious slanders continually hurled against the private and official character of the Editor of the Crescent by the vile and mendacious sheet (The Appleton Post, Republican paper edited by a Mr. Buchanan), published in Appleton under the auspices of the moral mummy who immures himself in the east half of the second story of the Bank Building:

"The Appleton Post evidently has an attack of the muligrubs.

"It goes for Sam Ryan, of the Crescent, in its usual pedantic and hifalutiny style. It goes for Johnny Beeson, of the Fond du Lac Reporter, and it goes for us (Sheboygan Herald).

"Whatever it may say about Sam Ryan's politics we shall not attempt to dispute, but we believe the hiring help who does the heavy work for the concern must be actuated solely by avarice and prejudice in his malicious attacks on Judge Ryan's private and official character.

"We have been personally acquainted with Judge Ryan long before this brainless ape undertook the job of traducing him, and know him to be a high minded and honorable gentleman, both in his private and official career.

"When the idiotic drizzle of this rotten Post has subsided, the moral atmosphere of Appleton will become purer, and this poor fool may improve in health. We advise him to cure that sour stomach of his, and get rid of the jaundice before making another effort." — Feb. 25th.

"The Appleton Post still continues its personal abuse of Sam Ryan, which must be exceedingly gratifying to the public. If the Appletonians would exchange the editor for some fish woman, we think the billingsgate in its columns would be improved. He reminds us of Parson Brownlow's "butt cut of original sin." — Sheboygan Herald — March 4th.

We Criticize School Board But We Don't Vote for Them

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

The school board election held on March 4 seemed to be a very clear statement of the fact that we, the citizens of Appleton, cherish the right to criticize our elected representatives but do not cherish the obligation to elect them.

The school board has taken more abuse than any other group or individual involved in the government of our city. They devote many hours of hard work to the welfare of our children and thus to the future of Appleton. They work without pay and certainly without our gratitude and always with the knowledge that they must fight for every proposal they make.

Yet the qualified voters were not concerned enough to get out and vote! There seems to be a wide disparity between the number of complaints and the number of votes.

MADISON (AP) — Big Ten champion Purdue, with All-America Rick Mount riding shotgun, is favored to knock over Miami (Ohio) University in the first round of the NCAA Mid-East regional basketball tournament here Thursday night.

In the second game, Kentucky and Marquette University are rated a toss-up in the resumption of a year-old feud.

The Purdue-Miami clash is scheduled to begin at 9 p.m. (CST), following the Marquette-Kentucky game at 7 p.m. (CST).

Shula to Speak at 1,000-Yard Club Fete

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

MENASHA — The National Football League 1,000-yard club held a profitable "smoker" Tuesday night and announced that Baltimore Colt Coach Don Shula would headline the foundation's annual banquet June 3.

The informal get-together in the Menasha Hotel was profitable not only from the standpoint of signing new members (the total membership is now 156) but because of financial generosity of Wes Pavalon, Milwaukee Bucks' chairman of the board.

Pavalon declared he would present an annual scholarship to a boy or girl selected by the 1,000-yard club directors and that he and the Bucks would donate $1,000 annually for five years to help the organization's youth projects.

It was also announced that Shucky Greene, night club and television comedian, will be master of ceremonies for the June 3 banquet.

Greene will have to be pretty funny to outdo the stars of last night's "floor show," Henry Jordan and "Fuzzy" Thurston. Jordan (the MC) and Thurston (the greeter) were at their irreverent best as they needed each other and various members of the audience.

Short speeches were delivered by executives of Wisconsin's only two major sports teams and by the representative of another that hopes to gain major league status. The speakers were Phil Bengtson, Packer general manager-coach; the Bucks' Pavalon; and Eddie Mathews, vice president of the Milwaukee Brewers.

Bengtson cited the support the Packers get from the Fox River Valley and said the area has "very intelligent fans." In his new dual capacity, Bengtson said "The ultimate goal is to make this a winning team on the field" and indicated all other considerations — including making money — were secondary.

Bengtson commended the work of the 1,000-yard club and quipped that he hopes to help keep the group's budget down (by stopping any more NFL runners from qualifying for membership by gaining 1,000 yards).

In alluding to the Packer "change of the guard," Jordan said that while Bengtson coached the defense, that unit was usually first or second in the new dual capacity, Bengtson said "The ultimate goal is to

"was eighth or ninth" in the league.

In another Lombardi reference, Thurston declared, "Vince... whatever his name is... isn't going to beat us."

"Fun While Doing It"

Pavalon, a bearded financial wizard, noted, "All of you are to be congratulated on conducting such a worthwhile thing and having fun while doing it... the name of the game is fun and net after taxes." He noted that the Bucks are starting something new in athletics — a stock option plan for players, as an added incentive.

Mathews, former Braves and Detroit star in his first year of retirement, invited the group "to come down and see some games (in Milwaukee)... we feel we have a real fine package for you this season."

Among other guests introduced were Bob Hyland, Jim Weatherwax, Doug Hart, Boyd Dowler, Bob Long, Max McGee and Packer personnel director Pat Peppeler.

Thurston told of a McGee locker-room remark of several years ago: "It's hard to be humble when you're as great as we (Max and Fuzzy) are."

Thurston added, "the next day, he dropped six passes."

Jordan said that Long "is playing sandlot ball with the Falcons." In introducing Weatherwax, Jordan commented "Phil already said he'd have my job."

purchase details with Wolman and his creditors.

Confidence
Wolman said after the five-hour hearing in U.S. District Court he expects to be able to consolidate his other holdings and raise money to regain the team.

Although neither was available for comment, The Associated Press learned that "Retzlaff, one of the NFL's all-time great tight ends, is Tose's No. 1 choice.

It was learned Tose feels Coach-General Manager Joe Kuharich must go to restore the Eagles' public image. Kuharich, who had four losing seasons in five years, has been under fire by the fans and press.

Retzlaff played 11 seasons with the Eagles and ranked as the fifth-best receiver in NFL history at his retirement two years ago.

The 37-year-old Retzlaff became a television sportscaster in Philadelphia upon his retirement from the Eagles.

Retzlaff New Coach?

Philadelphia Eagles Sold Conditionally for Over $16 Million

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Now that Leonard Tose is upon the Philadelphia Eagles' scene, can Pete Retzlaff be far behind?

Tose, a Norristown, Pa., trucking executive awarded conditional ownership of the Eagles Tuesday by a bankruptcy referee in Baltimore, favors the former football great as his coach, and possibly, general manager as well.

The Associated Press learned Tose leans toward Retzlaff shortly after Joseph O. Kaiser, a Baltimore bankruptcy referee, awarded the National Football League team to Tose on a conditional basis.

Tose won the right to purchase the team with a last-ditch offer of $16,055,000 that topped by $5,000 a bid submitted by Thomas D. McCloskey, a Philadelphia builder.

The purchase, for the present, bails out Jerry Wolman, who is fighting to retain ownership. If Wolman can raise $37 million to pay off creditors by Aug. 1, then he reclaims the team.

Under terms outlined by Kaiser, Tose has 10 days to finalize Bonduel's John Dussling has been named to the 1968-69 Northeastern Wisconsin Conference Basketball Team.

Dussling, a 6-7 senior center who led the league in rebounding and was runnerup in scoring, is joined by West De Pere's Bob DeVos, Sturgeon Bay's Mark Ostrandt, Oconto Falls' Jeff Pyleski, and Tim Lisowe. DeVos was a unanimous pick.

Second team choices include Jack Novak, Kewaunee; Kent Trachte, De Pere; Roger Toole, Oconto; John Geitner, Sturgeon Bay; and Todd Heider, Oconto Falls.

A Seymour player, Pete King, was one of the picks on the third unit. Other selections were Jim O'Keefe, De Pere; Glen Sell, Ashwaubenon; Pat Berkovitz, Kewaunee; and Doug Rehn, Pulaski.

MARSHFIELD — The surprising Weyauwega Indians continue their Cinderella bid for a berth in the state basketball tournament when they compete in the sectional meet at the new Marshfield Senior High School Fieldhouse this weekend.

Coach Jim Otte's cagers, now 15-7 for the season, collide with Neillsville (18-4) in the second game of Friday night's slate of opening contests. Tip-off is approximately 8:30 p.m.

In the first contest, co-favorites and heated rivals Wausau (15-6) and Schofield (20-1) battle starting at 7 p.m. The Lumberjacks are seeking a return to the state meet after finishing second in Madison two years ago, while the Evergreens are after a second consecutive trip to state.

Comes on Strong

Weyauwega, a third-place finisher in the Central Wisconsin Conference race, has come on strong in tournament play with four successive victories. After knocking off Manawa and Marion to win the Manawa district meet, the Indians copied the Marion regional title last week with 61-45 and 63-54 triumphs over Iola-Scandinavia and Wild Rose, respectively.

Sharp-shooting Jim Nolan set the scoring pace in the pair of recent victories, firing through 42 points — 23 of them against I.S. Stevens added 22 markers for the second-high total.

Neither regional foe gave the Indians much of a fight. Wega carried a comfortable lead of 14 points into the last periods against both Iola-Scandinavia and Wild Rose.

Neillsville has lost only to Greenwood, Thorp, Black River Falls, and Wisconsin Rapids Assumption, and the Warriors have an 8-game winning streak going.

Wayne Schlegelmilch, a 6-foot, 4-inch junior forward, has been the leading scorer for the Cloverbelt Conference team with a 19.7 average. Senior guard Dave Roberts (5-8) is next with a 15.8 mark.

Remaining starters for coach Ken Van Dam include 6-3 senior center Chuck Schlegelmilch, 5-11 senior forward Russ Karl, and 5-7 senior guard Tom Lukes.

Neillsville gained a berth in the sectional by winning the Owen regional meet, beating Cornell in the finals, 67-63. Roberts and Lukes were the chief Warrior gunners with 20 and 17 points, respectively.

Led By Spychalla

Schofield, also known as D. C. Everest, is led by high-scoring forward Kurt Spychalla. The 6-4 senior, who gained all-state honors in football as a defensive back last season, has made a strong bid to the same type of laurels in basketball.

The Evergreens were beaten only by Rhinelander during the

Bratkowski to Coach

Everything Geared to Facilitate More Wins On Field, Says Bengtson

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

"The challenge," Phil Bengtson said matter-of-factly, "is to channel everything in my new capacity to facilitate more wins on the field."

Bengtson, making his first official appearance as Packer general manager since being named to succeed Vince Lombardi last week, offered his succinct appraisal at Tuesday's Mike and Pen Sports Club luncheon in the Beaumont Inn.

"I don't just know how we're going to do that yet," he added, "but everything is going to be geared in that direction."

One program designed to produce championship results already has been set in motion, with former quarterback Zeke Bratkowski at the controls.

Heads Program

Bengtson, who clarified the Brat's status in the process, explained "Zeke is heading up a program that so far involves only our local people. It is a combination of running and weightlifting exercises. The weightlifting exercises have a little different approach than just to develop strength, however.

"The combination, I might add, is one of the best ways to develop good over-all physical condition. It's an old theory, but it's a good one. The idea is to channel everything in my new capacity to facilitate more wins on the field."

Heading the Big Rivers Conference, but it also is a good fence representative is 5-11 senior Jerry Bird, a jumping jack forward who has poured through an average of 16.6 points per outing.

Rounding out the top five for former Neenah coach Doug Martin are 6-3½ sophomore working with the people who have been injured and need rebounder and second-best score-rehabilitation. Dom Gentile (assistant trainer) has been in charge of this phase of it.

Recent Operation

"Jim Grabowski is up here, and we have him on a regular program. So is Elijah Pitts, who had the most recent operation. And Jim Weatherwax. All have shown improvement in the limited time they have been working with it.

Did this accent on conditioning suggest he felt his athletes may have been lacking in this regard last season?

season (that by a 70-68 margin) and shared the Wisconsin Valley Conference title with the Ho-dags with a 11-1 record. Spychalla was the key to the club's third straight crown, setting an impressive league scoring mark of 351 points (29.2 average). Right now, he is hitting at a 28.7 clip.

Spychalla and 6-7 junior center John Sattler have supplied the Evergreens with the most scoring punch and rebounding power. Sattler owns a 15.1 points-per-game average.

Other regulars on the club are 6-2 senior forward Tom Clark, a defensive specialist; and senior guards Al Drake (6-0) and Bob Gibbs (6-2). Dan Benbenek, a 6-2 junior, helps out the most.

30 Points in Each

Schofield came through the Wisconsin Rapids regional by overpowering little school power Port Edwards, 71-43, and stopping Wisconsin Rapids, 71-61. Spychalla had 30 points in each victory.

One problem the Evergreens encountered at Rapids was trying to cope with a pressure defense. Wausau had depended on its intense pressing tactics to force its opponents into mistakes.

Heading the Big Rivers Conference, but it also is a good fence representative is 5-11 senior Jerry Bird, a jumping jack forward who has poured through an average of 16.6 points per outing.

Stout Faces Maryland '5' In NAIA Test

Both Teams Have Recorded Upsets In Opening Round

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Stout State, the Wisconsin State University Conference champion, takes on a fellow spoiler this evening in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball tourney.

Maryland State, now 21-6, upset seventh-seeded Wartburg of Iowa 99-90 Tuesday night. It was Wartburg's first loss after 25 victories.

Stout similarly downed a rated team, beating tenth-seeded Linfield of Oregon Monday 113-80. Stout is now 22-4.

Maryland State's Hawks outscored Wartburg 12-4 in the final minutes, and ended the game with Jake Ford scoring 41 points, the best production in the NAIA tourney up to that date.

Top Rebounders

The Hawks, although unseeded, are the best rebounding team in the tournament. They entered competition averaging 60 rebounds a game.

They rely greatly on the height of their players. There is often an exception to the rule, and Tuesday night, it was 5-foot-10 guard William Stewart, who had been averaging 11 points a game, but who scored 36 against Wartburg, the third-highest tourney output to that point.

Stout's Blue Devils reported Tuesday night that guard Tom Tobin, who injured an ankle in Monday's game, probably will be sidelined.

But starting guard Tim Domke, still favoring a right leg made sore by a charley horse, worked out with the team Tuesday. So did a freshman guard, Rob Heiman, who had been told to report after Tobin was injured.

Heiman, in fact, had only just strolled into the team's hotel lobby when coach Dwain Mintz seized him by the arm and hustled him off to Tuesday's practice.

Name Johnson Badgers' MVP

Henry Selected Captain for the 1969-70 Season

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin basketball team handed its "most valuable player" award to James Johnson Tuesday night, then turned its attention to a future under coach John Powless.

Johnson, a 6-foot-5 forward from Memphis, Tenn., was cited at an annual basketball banquet. He was the Badgers' top scorer, with 462 points during his third year as a starter.

Powless complimented all the graduating seniors, Johnson, Tom Mitchell, Keith Burington, Chuck Nagle, Ted Voight, John Schell.

Schell, Powless hinted, could wind up as a coaching aide some day.

The Badgers ended the Big Ten Conference season in an eighth-place tie. It was Powless' first year as head coach.

Athletic director Elroy Hirsch said Powless would have his full backing next season. The new director said he won't rest until Wisconsin gets itself ranked among the nation's top 10 teams.

Silver bowls were presented to team captains, and Johnson got a special award for his rebounding talents.

Powless said 6-foot-9 center Albert Henry has been chosen as 1969-70 team captain.

Ed Jucker of the National Basketball Association's Cincinnati Royals, under whom Powless was an assistant at the University of Cincinnati, said the Badger coach is capable of getting a team into NCAA tourney competition.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles noting that the upstart Badgers had upset such nationally-rated powers as Kansas, Marquette and Kentucky, called the Wisconsin players a group of "giant killers."

Marshfield Meet Tough Old Abe '5' Should Breeze Into State Test

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The luck of the draw sends the two strongest high school clubs against each other in the first round of the Marshfield sectional Friday night, but Eau Claire Memorial should breeze through the Spooner sectional.

The eight clubs—four at each site—are battling to gain spots in the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association's state basketball tournament the following week at Madison.

Schofield, which finished fourth in the final Associated Press prep cage ratings, will take on Wausau at Marshfield. The other game pits Neillsville against Weyauwega.

At Spooner, Eau Claire Memorial meets upstart Superior, and Osceola plays Rice Lake.

Eau Claire Memorial's Old Abes had their biggest test last week in their own regional. This week's sectional games should be a breeze.

Memorial, ranked fifth in The AP poll, lost only one game this season and has one of the state's better players, Greg Morley, ready for the four-team tournament.

Stan Morley, at 5-foot-11, and 5-foot-8 Gregg Bohlig spark one of the tournament's smallest teams. The other starters, all juniors, will probably be Bob Burling, 6-foot-0, Tom Poquette, 5-foot-8, and Pete Almborg, 6-foot-4.

Rice Lake is making its second straight trip to the Spooner sectional. With a 17-4 record, the Warriors hope to give Coach Bob Tone a championship trophy as a going-away present. Tone is retiring as coach after this season.

Two tall frontliners, Bill Grenier at 6-foot-5 and Dan Rogowski at 6-foot-4, pace the Rice Lake team. Other starters are 6-foot Dan Scolman and 5-foot-5 Jim Heldstab at guards and 6-foot-4 Brad Minkel at forward.

Coach Craig Johnson of Superior usually starts 5-foot-9 guard

Rueckl Studio Cops Men's Cage Crown

Bud Muntner poured through 50 points to spark Rueckl Studio to an 85-78 victory over Pizza Hut for the Appleton Recreation Department Men's Basketball League championship Tuesday night.

The two teams were tied at 50, all after three quarters of play, but a 26-19 advantage in the last period gave Rueckl the verdict. The winners had held a slim 35-33 halftime edge.

Jim Peerenboom backed Muntner's efforts with 14 points. Leading the way for Pizza Hut were Tom Gossens and Dennis Spice, who each tossed in 24.

For the consolation title, Fox Valley Cab raced to a 42-27 halftime lead over Whitman's and then hung on for a 64-58 triumph. Tom Rankin's 23 points topped the victors, while Bill Morse took game scoring honors with 25 markers for the losers.

The High School Boys League championship was won by the Joe Buckets quintet, as it downed Zorbas, 55-50, in the finals. The two clubs were deadlocked at 26-all at intermission, but the winners led by a 40-33 margin at the end of the third frame.

Bob Heideman's 19 points paced the victors, and Bob Christensen hit 12 in a losing cause.

Drake Quint Challenged by Texas A & M

Contest Headlines Play in NCAA's Midwest Regional

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer Let the Drake Bulldogs beware.

Hardly anyone gives Texas A&M of the Southwest Conference a chance against the Bulldogs of the Missouri Valley Conference in the NCAA post-season basketball championship tournament Thursday.

Drake, 23-4 and boasting a 10-game winning streak, meet the Aggies 18-7 in the NCAA Midwest Regional at Manhattan, Kan., and on paper seem a shoo-in.

But the same situation prevailed in the Midwest Regionals last season and the year before. On each occasion the SWC representative upset the dope. Last year Texas Christian beat Kansas State 77-72. In 1967 Southern Methodist astounded Louisville 83-81.

So when Shelby Metcalf, Texas A&M coach, declares, "We've got to stop their fast break and I don't think that's been done," let Drake take fair warning.

One of Eight The game is one of eight regional NCAA games which, along with the opening of the NIT journey in New York, highlights Thursday's program.

Colorado and Colorado State U. meet in the other Midwest NCAA Regional at Manhattan.

In the East Regional at College Park, it's St. John's, N.Y., vs. Davidson and Duquesne vs. North Carolina. At Madison, Wis. in the Midwest Regional, it's Kentucky vs. Marquette and Purdue vs. Miami of Ohio. At Los Angeles in the West Regional, it's Santa Clara vs. Weber State and New Mexico State vs. UCLA.

Florida is pitted against Temple and St. Peter's, N.J., against Tulsa in the opening first-round doubleheader of the NIT.

Small Colleges Tangle While the big boys are waiting offstage, the small college teams take the spotlight today.

The quarter-finals of the NCAA college division are scheduled at Evansville, Ind.

Kentucky Wesleyan, the defending champion, meets Oglethorpe and Ashland, Ohio, No. 1 in The Associated Press final poll, goes after Illinois State in a night doubleheader.

San Francisco State met American International and Montclair, N.J., State faced Southwest Missouri in an afternoon twin bill.

The winners will play at 3:05 p.m. (CST) Saturday with the regional champion advancing to the national championships, which will be held in Louisville, Ky., March 20-22.

With Mount providing the firepower, Purdue annexed the Big Ten crown and a 20-4 record for the season. The Boilermakers were not a one-man team, but it was no secret that the junior from Lebanon, Ind., was the big man.

Purdue wound up its season with a victory over arch-rival Indiana.

First Meeting Close One crack remains in the Boilermakers' wall, however, an early season contest with Miami was extremely close.

Kentucky captured the Southeastern Conference title to enter the Thursday-Saturday tournament with a 22-4 record. But that might not be enough to escape the wrath of Marquette, bent on vengeance.

Last year, Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats clobbered Marquette 107-89 in the first round of the regionals held at Lexington, Ky., the home court of Kentucky. This year, the meet is being held in Marquette territory.

Wisconsin's coach John Powell, whose team played both Kentucky and Marquette, gives the edge to the Warriors from Milwaukee, Wis.

"Marquette has more cards in its hand than Kentucky," Powell said. "Personally, I think Marquette's got the team to beat them."

Wisconsin split two close games with the Marquette Warriors and upset Kentucky.

Can't Handle Thompson "Marquette has the ability to run as individuals," Powell said. "I don't think there's a team in the country that handle George Thompson one-on-one."

Even Rupp was cautious about his team's chances.

"I think Marquette is maybe a stronger team this year than it was a year ago while we're probably not as strong," he said.

Coach Al McGuire of Marquette still remembers last year when Thompson, an honorable mention selection on The Associated Press all-America team this

by TOM SALADINO Associated Press Sports Writer

A grand slam home run snapped Boston's winning spring season but Red Sox Manager Dick Williams was smiling. His thoughts were on bigger things—like a crashing double by Tony Conigliaro.

The Minnesota Twins, aided by Ted Uhlaender's second-inning home run with the bases full, stopped Boston 7-6 Tuesday, after the Red Sox had taken their first three spring baseball exhibitions.

Looks Good "He's looked very, very good," an elated Williams said. "There isn't a gutsier player in the American League," referring to the 24-year-old Tony C. who is trying to come back after a near-disastrous beating by California pitcher Jack Hamilton which fractured his cheekbone on Aug. 18, 1967.

Conigliaro, whose hit was his first of the spring—although he's been hitting the ball hard—is now one for six. More importantly he has only struck out once and that was a called third strike.

Perfect Eyesight Last spring Conigliaro attempted to come back, but after getting only six hits in 55 at bats and striking out 22 times, the

Hayes, Wilt Close In on NBA Titles

NEW YORK (AP) — With two weeks to go in the National Basketball Association season, Elvin Hayes, San Diego's sensational rookie, appears certain to reign as scoring king while Wilt Chamberlain is closing in on the rebounding and field goal percentage titles again.

Hayes, with 2,089 points and a 29-point average, through games of last Sunday, was well ahead of Baltimore's Earl Monroe, who jumped from fourth to second place last week with a total of 1,878 points. Chamberlain, Los Angeles' 7-foot-2 super pivot, held commanding leads in the rebounding race, with a total of 1,544 retrievals, and the field goal accuracy derbies with a .575 percentage from the floor. Last year, he led the league in both departments.

Russell, Lucas Follow Boston's Bill Russell, with 1,366 rebounds, and Cincinnati's Jerry Lucas, with a .555 floor mark, were the runners-up after last week's action.

Oscar Robertson of the Royals loomed as the heir-apparent to Chamberlain as the No. 1 playmaker. The Cincinnati backcourt ace had 703 assists, a 9.8 per-game average. Len Wilkens of Seattle was second with 617 and 8.4 per game.

Larry Siegfried of Boston continued to lead in free throw accuracy, having hit on 87 per cent of his 369 shots from the foul line.

season, fouled out with 17:51 remaining in the game. "Our whole team is Thompson," McGuire said at the time, "and he was mickey moused out of their place in 23 minutes." "I honestly respect Coach Rupp," McGuire said recently. "Rupp's built a lot of houses. I just want to build a better one."

Minnesota's Ray Cullen knocked in a rebound with 6:13 remaining to play, earning the tie as two NHL season records were set and one tied.

Minnesota's Danny Grant, who scored both North Stars' earlier goals, now has 31 for the season, breaking the rookie record of 30 set by Bernie Geoffrion in 1951-52.

Fishing License Proposal for Great Lakes Waters Endorsed

MADISON (AP)—Legislators and former legislators admitted Tuesday to a change of heart about whether to require licenses for sport fishing in the Great Lakes.

After hearing the change-of-mind comments, the Senate Conservation Committee unanimously endorsed a licensing bill, although some hearing speakers said it might detract from the business of persons who operate pleasure fishing concessions.

"I am a convert," said Frank N. Grass of Sturgeon Bay, a former legislator who once opposed Great Lakes fishing licenses.

"I feel the same way," remarked Sen. Wilfred Schuele, D-Hales Corners.

Only One Without John Brasch, assistant director of Wisconsin's Fish Management Bureau, said Wisconsin is the only Great Lakes state without a fishing license for fishing in the lakes.

Most Wisconsin residents checked at Lake Superior and Lake Michigan, he said, usually have licenses anyway, but non-residents do not.

He estimated the license proposal could produce $225,000 annually for the fish and game fund.

Assemblyman Lawrence Johnson of Algoma suggested making the proposed fee easier to accept by not charging nonresidents more than the $3 paid by residents. He said "nonresidents pay the same as 'residents' at state parks, for example."

Paul Voight of Milwaukee, operator of a summer fishing excursion business in Door County, said charter fishing boat operators would be harmed by the bill.

Voight said about 80 per cent of his patrons are nonresidents who would disapprove of a $6 license fee.

Bratkowski Won't Play this Season

coaches but on the part of the players. It's easier for them to assure the results of weighting than of running."

"We feel it's a little bit overrated. The overall physical condition is improved more by a balanced program."

Ends Speculation

Bratkowski, who succeeded in McCormick as offensive backfield coach, will confine himself to coaching in '69, Briggs said, thus ending speculation Zeke would function as a player-coach. The Packer job-domo also reported:

"The rookie signing program on schedule.

"He will continue to concentrate more on defense on the sidelines, although he intends to add to his approach."

"He is happy with the present alignment of the National Football League's Central Division, the Packers' current time."

"He hopes to have quarter-back Bart Starr's vulnerable better protected."

"Dick Himes, a rookie in '69, is ready to become a better at tackle."

"He looks favorable upon his tactical turf."

"Although he will not be attending the pro football meetings, he is familiar with the media and will be available for consultation."

"The Tom Brown trade with the Redskins was 'equitable,' according to the Packers' current laboring on the rookie situation, Bengtson revealed, "and of our draftees have been contacted by Pat Peppler (personal director) or one of our coaches. Some are committee on the others, the progress very satisfactory."

Free Agents

"We also have contacted several free agents. We have had, surprisingly enough, quite a few inquiries from free agents. In all cases, we have a pretty complete file on them. Where we do not, we have set about finding further information in the subject of realignment," said, "I think our division—Chicago, ourselves, Detroit and Minnesota, makes an ideal situation. It is very competitive and keenness of the rivalries is as great as you will find. As far as the merger of the leagues (the National and American Football Leagues), I can't give you an awful lot of thought, but I suppose there are advantages and disadvantages both ways. I think traditional rivalries should be preserved as much as possible."

"Discussing the upcoming meetings, at which present Dominic Olejniczak and corporation counsel F. N. Trowbridge Sr. will represent the Packers, he explained, "You're restricted on the number of people who can represent the team."

Discuss Anything

"I've seen the agenda and I know what's going to be coming. I won't be completely out of it. They know they can pick up the telephone if they should want to discuss anything with me."

"Describing the rib problem which dogged Starr most of the season as "a pretty common injury among quarterbacks," Bengtson added, "We hope to protect that area a little better next year. He can't be protected in everything, of course, but we get him a suit of armor—and then he wouldn't be able to throw."

"Discussing the Brown trade, Packer leader pointed out, "I've had Doug Hart for several years, John Rowser for years and Gordon Rule for season—all of whom we could play regularly at offensive back."

"We could get more for him, but we don't feel we'veakened ourselves."

Ready to Play

"Himes, he said, "is ready to go," if Capt. Bob Skoronski could retire, as appears likely, in real pleased with his development," Bengtson added.

"Asked if Phil Vanderschaal again be a candidate at the end, he said, "We'll start at defensive end. He had a concentrated course—all of the days—before he played against New Orleans last year and did a good job."

"Linebacker Jim Flanagan, the '68 casualty?"

"He's in fine shape now," the sounded optimistic, one member ventured.

"I mean to," was the unhesitating reply.

No Great Actresses

"The stars of TV Special 'Arsenic and Old Lace'—a four-hour adaptation of the classic play—taped a program with rare appearances by Helen Hayes and Lillian Gish will be broadcast by ABC on March 22. The two famous actresses will play the sweetly comical spinsters and David Wayne has the Teddy Roosevelt role."

Another to be Tried Drug Charges Against Two Teens Dismissed

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer Tuesday dismissed drug charges against two Appleton teen-agers and bound a 20-year-old youth over to the court on three alleged narcotics and drugs violations.

The bind-over was ordered for Charles E. Jacobson, 20, 210 S. Rankin St., who is charged with delivery of a dangerous drug without a prescription, delivering a narcotic drug to a person under 21, and possession and sale of a narcotic drug.

Jacobson, who is in jail under $3,000 bond, is expected to enter pleas March 18, at which time trial dates will be set, if necessary.

Informant's Testimony

An Appleton Police Department informant testified last month that he obtained drugs and narcotics from Jacobson on Jan. 1 and Jan. 20.

A chemist from the Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory testified Tuesday that the two narcotic drugs in question were marijuana, and the dangerous drug, for which the informant reportedly paid Jacobson $4 on Jan. 1, was an amphetamine tablet known as STP. It is a hallucinogenic drug.

Schaefer dismissed charges against James Lopas, 17, 1315 S. Jefferson St., and Stephen Bates, 19, 108 S. Lawe St.

Lopas was charged with delivering a dangerous drug without a prescription on Feb. 13, and Bates with an identical offense on Feb. 14. Both charges were brought by an Appleton police informant.

The informant testified last month that he paid Lopas $10 for two green and black capsules in the restroom of a downtown tavern-restaurant.

$5 For a Pill

He also testified he paid Bates $5 for a pill in a downtown alley.

The crime laboratory determined that the pills in question regarding both Lopas and Bates were prescription tranquilizers.

Athletic Field Approved for Fox Campus

Construction of an athletic field at the Fox Valley Campus of UWGB was approved Tuesday afternoon by the Outagamie County Board as was providing the additional funds necessary to complete the swimming lake at Plamann Park.

The athletic field, to be built at a cost of about $10,000, will include a touch football field, soccer field, softball diamonds, tennis courts and an additional parking lot for the center.

The cost will be shared by Winnebago County. The school's trustees asked for a transfer of $3,000 to augment funds available in their budget for Outagamie County's half.

The board also approved a transfer of $11,100 to complete the swimming lake project. Supv. G. Allen Bubolz, Appleton, chairman of the Parks and Recreation Committee, said the well has been completed and successfully underwent an eight-hour test Monday.

Village Man Fined $50 By Municipal Justice For Leaving Accident

LITTLE CHUTE — Dennis Nieft, 27, 136½ E. Main St., was found guilty of failure to report an accident and leaving the scene of an accident and was fined $50 by Municipal Justice Raymond Sanders Monday night.

Nieft pleaded innocent to the charge which was alleged to have taken place Feb. 23, but police had a witness to the accident who could identify Nieft as the driver.

Youth, Who Took Car and Threatened Man, Is Jailed

One of three youths who threatened a New London man with a knife and chain and later stole a car is in juvenile detention in the Outagamie County Jail.

Sheriff's investigators said the youth, 15-years-old and from Appleton, returned on his own Monday to Homme Home for Boys at Wittenberg. The trio fled from the home early last Friday.

The Appleton youth was turned over to Shawano County authorities, then to Outagamie County investigators who questioned him.

The other two youths, about 16 years old, are still being sought, but are believed to be in the Chicago area.

David Schneider of New London reported to police about 2:30 a.m. Friday that he picked up three teen-agers five miles north of New London, on U.S. 45. One of the youths threatened Schneider with a knife and the second youth wrapped a length

Rockefeller Set For Latin Trip as Nixon Emissary

Governor Won't Press His Earlier Plans for Action

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he will go to South America as the ears of the White House — to receive views of national leaders "on whatever subjects they wish to discuss."

Accordingly, the New York governor said, he will make no effort during a series of forthcoming trips to promote a new "Good Neighbor" policy he drafted last year when he was competing with Richard M. Nixon for the presidency.

The policy was set forth in a 3,000-word paper saying that if nominated and elected Rockefeller would propose among other things:

—Establishing a "small peace-keeping force" under the Organization of American States (OAS) "for use in disputes among members or, more importantly, in cases where elements alien to the hemisphere threaten the security of any member."

Canada Into OAS —Bringing Canada into the OAS on the ground that "our northern neighbor has a major contribution to make to Western hemisphere relations."

—Strengthening the OAS by establishing "a constituent body" made up of parliamentary representatives from the American republics.

—Establishing a Latin American common market and encouraging creation of a hemisphere free trade area.

—Opening the East Andean jungles to development and harnessing South America's "vast water potential" by creating seven huge artificial lakes with low-level dams at an estimated cost of $500 million. Rockefeller did not pinpoint the sites.

—Undertaking cooperative efforts to establish regional universities, solve urban problems and "mobilize the youth of the hemisphere for social progress."

At the time, Rockefeller voiced strong concern about deterioration of Latin American relations—the very reason that Nixon has requested him to undertake the special mission.

"The fact of the matter," Rockefeller said then, "is that we have neglected Latin American relations and our neighbors feel it." He added:

"Our alliances are in disarray because we too often confuse consultation with elaborating on American blueprints. No self-respecting ally will feel responsible for programs that have not been made his own, through active participation."

Rockefeller was an architect of the original "Good Neighbor" policy of the early 1940's, while serving as assistant secretary of state for American republic affairs in the Roosevelt administration.

When Rockefeller was asked whether he stood by the proposals in the campaign paper, his office responded with this statement by the governor:

"The President has asked me to go to Latin America as his emissary to listen to the leaders of the other American republics and, on the basis of consultations with them, to make recommendations to him regarding United States policies concerning Latin America which will

Vietnam Peace Talks

'Dialogue of the Deaf'

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam peace talks have taken on the look of a time-marking exercise to hold the fort. They appear to have been downgraded to window-dressing for prospective private activity that might be more fruitful.

Developments could come in diplomatic dialogue between Washington and Hanoi, carried on by third parties, or some time in the future between the Saigon government and the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong.

Statements by South Vietnamese representatives indicate Saigon is sometimes restive under American leadership, of a mind to do some tentative probing of its own, and fed up with what Saigon's foreign minister calls the "dialogue of the deaf"—the dialogue of the deaf—in Paris.

The NLF also seems at times to be creating problems for its North Vietnamese sponsors by publicly and categorically resisting the idea of secret negotiations.

Neither the South Vietnamese government nor the National Liberation Front appears overenthusiased by the idea of secret talks. Either might be presented with some sort of fait accompli worked out by the United States and North Vietnam.

The NLF insists that anything the Americans want to bring up can be discussed at the weekly talk sessions, which have produced nothing but repetitious best reflect our common interests.

"Since the President has specifically asked me to consult with and consider the views of the leaders of the other American republics on whatever subjects they wish to discuss, I am undertaking the mission on that basis."

"Therefore, the proposals made in my campaign statement of July 2, 1968, will not be raised."

A spokesman said this did not mean Rockefeller was repudiating his campaign position but only that he would not seek to press those views on others.

statements of mutually unacceptable positions.

The South Vietnamese government seems to want to turn its back on Paris and search hopefully for some long-range solution with elements of the NLF or with Hanoi.

The United States would have no objection to such a Vietnamese solution if it proved workable. But it might be unhappy if Saigon sought to exclude other avenues, including secret U.S.-North Vietnamese contacts.

Hanoi's representatives have indicated at times that they favor the idea of secret negotiations but complain that the Americans have barred the way. The Americans have been saying all along that they consider secret negotiations the only hope of progress toward peace.

The impression here is that the Nixon administration has not yet given its delegation the green light for any determined approach to Hanoi's representatives to set up secret contacts. The new President is still feeling his way, still pondering the meaning of the latest enemy offensive in South Vietnam and whether that requires any additional responsive action.

Few doubt that the offensive is aimed directly at the Paris talks, and that it will go on as long as the Communist command feel it has a chance of eroding the patience of the U.S. public.

NLF Wants Recognition

What the NLF wants more than any other thing in Paris, apparently, is recognition. It wants to force the Americans into talking directly to its representatives rather than to what the Americans call "the other side," a term lumping the NLF and Hanoi delegations together and implying that they are one. The NLF wants the recognition to be public and unmistakable.

There has not been the slightest indication that the United States intends to bend to this demand.

However, it is not impossible that contact may be made in South Vietnam between the Front and officials of the Saigon government even if the Front is now demanding eradication of that government.

Such a contact could have the effect of placing the search for peace on two levels, one involving North Vietnam and the United States and having to do with such military questions as troop withdrawals and re-establishment of the demilitarized zone; the other between the two contending South Vietnamese sides, concerned with the political future of the country.

Negroes Rampage in Los Angeles Schools

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Let's strike now!" cried the Negro teen-agers. They rampaged outside or through 11 public schools, cursing as they smashed windows and overturned furniture. Fires broke out in four schools.

Mayor Sam Yorty, at a news conference, blamed "troublemakers who are running around from school to school intimidating students and parents."

Alvia Barfield, president of the Association of Classroom Teachers in Los Angeles, sent a telegram to Gov. Ronald Reagan asking him to intervene. The telegram said "the schools in Los Angeles are in their gravest hour."

A general walkout hit Los Angeles High Tuesday, and in other Negro-area schools attendance fell as low as 25 per cent for the second day.

The leaders, mostly bearded young men, vowed a paralyzing citywide schools strike until certain demands were met. They want Negro officials for Negro schools and black studies in them all.

The springboard came last Friday when police cleared away 200 boys and girls from a hallway at Carver Junior High School. The pupils staged the sit-in to protest removal of a visiting college member of the Black Students Union who had refused school demands to leave.

Several girls were hurt slightly, trampled by other students, said police, but word of "police brutality" and even deaths spread through south-central Los Angeles.

A half-dozen schools were involved in pupils' walkouts Monday, and by Tuesday there were 12, stretching as far as San Fernando High and Taft High in Woodland Hills, 30 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles.

In four schools, fires broke out. A blaze at City College caused $2,000 damage to the police science building, and a custodian was overcome fighting it. A $600 fire was set in a teachers storage room at Taft.

A wild demonstration by 200 pupils at Fremont High left dozens of windows smashed and tables and desks overturned.

There were 12 arrests on various misdemeanor charges.

Authorities ordered Jefferson High and Carver closed today for the third day straight for faculty and parent conferences, but said both would reopen Thursday.

Strike Ends; De Gaulle Is Firm

PARIS (AP) — After 24 hours of cold-water shaves and hitchhiking to work, France returned to normal today with President Charles de Gaulle wrathfully vowing to defend "the currency, the economy and the republic" against labor's demands for higher wages.

The big labor unions felt Tuesday's general strike and a demonstration in Paris by an estimated 60,000 to 100,000 workers would pressure the government into raising its wage increase offer above the 4 per cent limit.

N.Y. Actress Disappears Mysteriously

NEW YORK (AP) — Police have issued a 50-state alarm for Mona Crawford, an attractive blonde actress who disappeared under "suspicious circumstances" while trying to retrieve a stolen French poodle.

The 41-year-old actress, whose real name is Mona Sherman, has appeared on stage, in night clubs and was recently featured as "the girl on the seasaw" in a television cigarette commercial.

She was reported missing Sunday by Hyman Schick, a dairy farmer from Wayland, Mass. He told police he was with her in her apartment when she received a telephone call about 6 p.m. from a woman with a Spanish accent.

The woman reportedly said: "If you want your dog back, come along to Broadway and 90th Street at 8 p.m. Don't bring anyone with you."

Miss Crawford's two poodles, Cappy and Romeo, had been stolen from her car on Feb. 10 near Broadway and 90th Street. She advertised in English and Spanish newspapers promising a reward.

On Feb. 15 Miss Crawford was contacted by a Bronx woman who said she had bought a dog from a man she did not know in the same area on the 10th. The dog was Cappy and Miss Crawford paid a $200 reward.

Police said they had questioned the Bronx woman but withheld her identity.

On Sunday, Schick waited alone at Miss Crawford's apartment until she had failed to return by 10 p.m. He then went to Broadway and 90th Street where he found her car with the key in the ignition.

The unions are asking for 10 to 12 per cent more.

De Gaulle in a broadcast Tuesday night stood firm, warning that France is just starting to recover from the crippling effects of last spring's student-labor turmoil. He said strikers would not be allowed to threaten the franc with devaluation and throw the country into chaos again.

"New Offensive"

The 78-year-old French leader accused the labor bosses of unleashing "a new offensive threatening to bring down the currency, the economy and the republic."

"Do I need to declare they will be firmly defended?" he asked.

The wage negotiations deadlocked when the government insisted anything beyond a 4 per cent wage increase would result in inflation and might force devaluation of the franc.

French unions call strikes for only limited periods, usually 24 hours, because they do not have the funds to pay their members strike pay as American unions do. The wage demands and the strike announcement spurred a new gold rush last week in European bullion markets on the theory the franc might be devalued. But gold prices dropped in Tuesday's trading.

Clash With Police

The demonstration in Paris produced a clash between chanting strikers and police, who charged with truncheons and tear gas to clear the Boulevard du Temple after some youths started to dig up paving stones for a barricade. About 230 demonstrators were arrested, at least one was hospitalized and police said 12 officers were hurt.

The police also reported there were fights among the union members and some "far-left agitators."

The strike was taken in stride

Over Million in Japan Stranded by Storm

TOKYO (AP) — A snowstorm dumped 11 inches on Tokyo today, stranding more than a million commuters and paralyzing all land, sea and air transportation in central Japan.

The fall broke a 59-year-old March snow record in the Japanese capital—8.2 inches on March 12, 1910—and the central meteorological agency predicted an accumulation of 15 inches by night.

by Frenchmen. For most of the 11.3 million schoolchildren it was a holiday because teachers' unions supported the walkout. Commuters hitched rides into Paris on military vehicles mobilized by the government.

Public transportation was cut to a trickle, electricity and gas supplies were at a fraction of their normal levels, newspaper presses stopped, and many public services and private industries closed for the day.

Candlelight lunches and cold cuts were a common sight in restaurants. So were men and women climbing long flights of stairs because of immobile elevators.

Ray to be Treated As Normal Inmate

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray will live for the next six weeks or so in a prison cell nine feet long and six feet wide, with the Negro slayer of a policeman as his nearest neighbor.

The confessed assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., will occupy the cell—No. 4 in the state penitentiary's maximum security section—while undergoing orientation and classification.

Then, Warden Lake Russell said Tuesday, Ray will be assigned a prison job and treated as far as possible like other inmates while serving time against his 99-year sentence. It will be 30 years before Ray, 41, can be eligible for parole.

There are 32 other cells along the three corridors of the squat maximum security building. There are 26 other prisoners, but cells on both sides of Ray are vacant.

Black Power Advocate

In the occupied cell closest to him is William Garvin Allen, a Black Power advocate convicted earlier this year of killing a member of the Nashville police force.

Allen said he had no special feeling about his proximity to Ray.

"As far as I am concerned," said Allen, "society is what killed King."

Living in the security section will mark a distinct change from the fishbowl existence Ray led in the Memphis jail while he waited eight months for disposition of his case.

Tuesday night, about 12 hours after Ray's departure for Nashville in a caravan of eight state highway patrol cars, Shelby County Sheriff William Morris Jr. gave newsmen their first look at what "maximum security" had meant in Memphis.

Morris led newsmen through the six steel doors which had foreclosed between Ray and the "outside." The doors led to a 14 by 35 foot third-floor cellblock, painted black and green.

Never Alone in Room

Ray had never been alone in that room. From the time he arrived after being returned from London last summer, he had shared the quarters with shifts of two guards.

The lights were always on. Along one side of the room are five one-man cells. Ray washed and used an electric shaver in Cell 1. He could sleep in Cell 3 or 4, whichever he wanted.

He and the two guards with him were under constant surveillance by closed circuit television.

Despite his confinement, Sheriff Morris said, Ray kept in shape. Before entering his guilty plea in court Monday, he did his usual series of up to 100 pushups.

"He sometimes walked the 35-foot length of the room upside down on his hands," said Morris.

Red Carpet Treatment

Termed 'Theatrics'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The practice of rolling out the red carpet for visiting VIPs is under question at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Termining the practice "cheap theatrics," Lodge 23 of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace workers said the mechanics "have a right to be free from having to bow and scrape for rank, ceremony, privilege and power."

Military personnel normally perform the rug rolling duty at Air Force installations, but civilians are used here because of the predominantly civilian makeup of the base's work force.

Bachelor Beatle Married to Tune Of Howling Girls

LONDON (AP) — Paul McCartney, the last bachelor Beatle, married a blonde American divorcee in a civil ceremony today, pushed his way through 50 screaming girls and said, "I feel fine."

The new Mrs. McCartney, who is 27, appeared bewildered and frightened as teen-age girls surged around her, screaming, "Paul! Paul!" She carried Heather, her 6-year-old daughter by a previous marriage.

Miss Eastman is a photographer and a daughter of a New York lawyer.

Many of the bridegroom's young female admirers sobbed and clutched bouquets as they broke away from 250 other spectators and pushed through a police line to McCartney and his bride coming down the registry office steps.

After the couple struggled into an automobile, the girls pounded on the roof and windows and threw themselves over the hood.

The assault on the car was repeated when it stopped at a traffic light a few yards away. Police led four sobbing girls away, one officer holding two girls in his arms.

The fans began gathering outside the registry office in a light rain early this morning. McCartney was believed to have asked the other Beatles to stay away in hopes of keeping the crowd small.

Police cleared a passage to the front door, but the couple ducked in a back entrance. Then there was an hour's delay while McCartney and Miss Eastman waited for his brother, Mike McGear of the Scaffold, another pop group.

Fans outside sang "Beatle Paul, we love you."

The couple waved to the crowd from a second-floor window.

J. L. Jeavers, superintendent registrar at Marylebone, conducted the ceremony.

McCartney wore a black suit, silk floral shirt and a wide yellow tie. His green-eyed bride's blonde hair flowed over her shoulders and she wore a yellow coat over a fawn dress, brown stockings and chunky brown shoes.

Hundreds of girls had watched the couple leave McCartney's home in St. John's Wood this morning. Some had kept an all-night vigil outside the $100,000 house.

A girl in the headquarters of Apple, the Beatles' company, said: "I didn't think he would marry anyone. He didn't need to."

"It was bound to happen sooner or later," said McCartney, "and Linda made it sooner."

Schirra Quits Space Corps For Business

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Walter M. Schirra Jr., colorful dean of U.S. astronauts — he's 46 today — is leaving the space program to become a company president.

On the eve of his birthday, the boyish sports car buff announced Tuesday he will enter private business as head of a firm that leases out industrial equipment worldwide.

In his new job he hopes to help develop a space station to be parked in orbit in about 1975.

He views it as a way to "Explore the Earth as it should be explored," seeking out its mineral deposits and other natural resources from high in the sky.

After 27 years of government service, including nearly a decade in the U.S. space effort, Schirra, a Navy captain, said it wasn't easy to go.

He is the oldest astronaut, one of the original seven, and one of only two astronauts to fly three times in space. He found it "very traumatic for both Jo, my wife, and me to face up to the fact that we're going to leave."

The new step in his career will take him to the helm of Regency Corp. of Denver, Colo., a wholly owned subsidiary of the Colorado Corp., which leases such things as aircraft, ships, oil well drilling rigs, plant machinery and other industrial equipment.

Weather Forces Extra Orbit for 3 Astronauts

Splashdown Thursday Morning

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Although eager to come home, the Apollo 9 astronauts today enthusiastically approved staying in space an extra orbit Thursday to escape a rough landing in storm-lashed seas southwest of Bermuda.

"Hey, let's go there," Apollo 9 commander James A. McDivitt exclaimed when informed of the excellent weather forecast in the new landing area near Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas.

That is 480 miles south of the wind-whipped original splashdown zone where McDivitt, David R. Scott and Russell L. Schweickart would have had a rough reception.

The extra circuit of the globe will extend their time in space by about 100 minutes and increase the total length of the mission to just over 10 days.

The new landing time will be 11:03 a.m. CST.

This was the second time that a U.S. man-in-space landing has been altered by bad weather. In 1965, Gemini 5 pilots L. Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad Jr. landed one orbit early to avoid an Atlantic hurricane.

Leisurely Day

McDivitt, Scott and Schweickart enjoyed a leisurely final full day in space, taking pictures, monitoring spaceship systems, and preparing for homecoming to climax a flight that advanced the United States closer to a man-to-the-moon landing next summer.

Before making the decision, flight director Eugene Kranz weighed such things as how fast the recovery ship, the carrier Guadalcanal, could reach the new touchdown point, tracking facilities for the new re-entry track, and where Apollo 9 would land if its retro-rocket failed to fire and if it had to make emergency use of jet controls to come home an orbit or two later.

When astronaut Stuart Roosa, the capsule communicator, reported the forecast for the Bermuda area was "grim"—10 miles visibility, 23 knot winds, waves six to eight feet and swells 10 to 12 feet, McDivitt commented: "Visibility's good."

"Let's Go There"

ABM Disclosure Awaits Laird

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is awaiting the return of his secretary of defense from Vietnam before making a final decision on deployment of the Sentinel antiballistic missile—ABM—system.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said a decision still is planned this week, but not before Nixon confers with Melvin R. Laird, the defense chief, a supporter of ABM deployment, is due home late tonight from a war-zone inspection.

The subject was also before the National Security Council again today.

Ziegler did not rule out the possibility that Nixon would announce his decision on nationwide radio and television. However, Ziegler said the President did not want any such announcement to compete with the Apollo 9 splashdown Thursday morning.

Nixon told a news conference last Thursday he would announce a decision on the controversial Sentinel system the first of this week. But he delayed action after an intensive weekend review in Florida.

As the delay stretched into Tuesday with the President showing no sign he had selected one of the three apparent options, opponents of the ABM mounted a new effort to get the $5 billion project scrapped.

Could Compromise

Besides the unlikely possibility of junking the ABM, Nixon could compromise with orders for a limited deployment or order full-scale resumption of the project he halted several weeks ago amid criticism of cost and fear of accidental detonation of one of the nuclear-tipped defensive missiles.

Three leading scientists, all opposed to the Sentinel, won a surprise, last-minute chance to present their views at the White House, but failed to see Nixon as they had hoped.

The President's special assistant for national security affairs, Henry A. Kissinger, met with the three for one hour late in the afternoon, but there was no comment from any of the participants.

The scientists were Dr. R. Kilian, board chairman of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Dr. George Kistiakowsky of Harvard and Dr. Herbert York of the University of California.

Stationed in South Vietnam, they were captured on Feb. 12 after their L19 observation plane was shot down near the border between Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The airmen were held in a Cambodian naval barracks, and Sihanouk asked President Nixon to write him a letter asking for their release. Cambodia's Khmer Press Agency said Nixon wrote the Cambodian chief of state on March 8.

Arrive in Bangkok

The prisoners were released to the Australian Embassy in Phnom Penh Tuesday and arrived in Bangkok today aboard a Burmese airliner.

The four men were given a quick medical check at the airport, vaccinated and put aboard a U.S. courier plane for Saigon.

"It's great to be back," said Herlik.

Herlik said their plane was at about 3,500 feet when it was hit by a shell.

"It was a big one," he said. "It hit the bottom side of the engine and knocked the carburetor out. In about 10 seconds the engines stopped."

Land in Rice Paddy

"We made our emergency radio calls, picked out an emergency landing area and landed the aircraft intact in a rice paddy."

The fliers, armed with two M16 rifles and two pistols, immediately got into a fight with Viet Cong units.

"We had a 30-minute fight with Viet Cong troops before we were captured," Herlik said.

Osburn, who had shrapnel wounds in the neck and body, was immediately handed over to Cambodian authorities. The other three were held prisoner for two days during which they stayed at two Viet Cong camps by day and marched at night.

"We walked about 16 hours and made about 48 miles," he said.

Herlik said he believed their location at that time was in Tay Ninh province, in South Vietnam.

Herlik said they received

Aldrin First?

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A space agency official says astronaut Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin Jr. probably will be the first man to step onto the surface of the moon.

But Dr. John W. Small, chief of the space agency's lunar surface projects office, said plans still could be changed before the Apollo 11 flight this summer.

The other astronaut who could step first on the moon is civilian Neil Armstrong. He and Aldrin, an Air Force colonel, will fly in the lunar module to the moon's surface.

The third crew member, Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins, will remain behind piloting the command module as it orbits the moon.

waves two to three feet and swells six to seven feet, the Apollo 9 commander exclaimed. "Hey, let's go there! Let's go there!"

Later, with the Guadalcanal reporting 14 foot swells and 2,000 foot visibility, McDivitt said: "I don't think anybody up here is a good enough sailor for that."

"Roger, we agree down here too," Roosa said.

McDivitt inquired whether the Guadalcanal could reach the backup landing zone and was told that it was only 16 hours away and could easily make it.

"We need that cake," joked Scott, referring to a 350-pound cake that the Guadalcanal has waiting for Apollo 9's return.

Central Position

4 Pilots Freed By Cambodia

BANGKOK (AP) — Four American fliers captured in Cambodia a month ago were returned to freedom today as the result of a letter from President Nixon to ruling Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia.

The four U.S. Army men were identified as Maj. Querin Herlik of Savannah, Ga.; C. W. O. Laird Osburn of Webster Springs, W. Va.; Spec. 5 John Fisher of Gainesville, Fla., and Spec. 5 Rob Pryor of Oak Ridge, Tenn. Herlik is a native of Green Bay, Wis.

One of Four Is Native of Green Bay

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — "Oh, that's great news!" exclaimed Mrs. Alvin Cicler, sister of Maj. Querin Herlik Jr., about news of his return to freedom today from Cambodia.

Herlik and three other American fliers, captured in Cambodia when their plane was shot down on Feb. 12, were freed as the result of a letter from President Nixon to Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia.

"I have been glued to the radio and television for two days," Mrs. Cicler said. "This is the best news we have had in a long time. We have been worried ever since his capture."

Herlik's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Querin Herlik Sr., moved from Green Bay to Eagle River five years ago. The only family members still in Green Bay are Mrs. Cicler and an aunt, Mrs. Edward Herlik.

Herlik's wife is the former Mary Jo Lemerond of De Pere. She now resides in Savannah, Ga., with their three children.

Born in Green Bay, Herlik is a graduate of Catholic Central (Premontre) High School and St. Norbert College. He was commissioned an Army second lieutenant on graduation from St. Norbert in 1955.

Enemy Takes a Break After 18 Days of Spring Offensive

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong's rocket and mortar attacks dropped off sharply today, but American officers said it might be only a pause in the enemy's 18-day-old spring offensive.

U.S. sources pointed out that the Communist command still has thousands of troops it has not committed to the offensive yet. They said a new wave of attacks could come any day and that the rest of this week is a critical period.

Allied spokesmen reported 20 rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases and towns during the night, compared to about 60 the night before. U.S. headquarters said casualties were light.

Five more ground fights Tuesday were reported, resulting in the deaths of 126 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and 10 Americans.

U.S. headquarters reported 76 men of the enemy were killed in an abortive ambush of a 50-25th Infantry Division. "We knew they've been wanting to ambush one of our convoys."

The 25th Division had about 150 infantrymen and a column of armored personnel carriers equipped with .50-caliber machine guns and flame throwers reconnoitering the highway between the division headquarters at Cu Chi and a supply base at Dau Tieng.

The supply trucks, carrying ammunition and general cargo, were within three miles of Dau Tieng when the forward reconnaissance troops ran into the rear guard of the enemy lying in wait.

"They started a fire fight," said the 25th Division spokesman, "and the enemy's main ambush force got excited."

The American convoy was in three sections. One section already had passed the ambush site. Of the second section, all but the beer truck at the end had moved through.

A single enemy soldier ran onto the road and fired a rocket grenade at the truck.

"The third section of the convoy just barreled on through," the spokesman said, while the armored personnel carriers

HILBERT — The site committee of the Hilbert Joint School District has informed the board of education that it has completed its preliminary work and is prepared to offer site options to the district electors.

Safety Building Gets Conditional Okay

Joint Appleton, Outagamie Study Committee to Devise Details for Final Approval

BY DON CASTONIA Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton and Outagamie County have agreed to a joint safety building project.

But, at the same time, action taken Tuesday night by the city council and county board limited the scope of the agreement to a more detailed study.

The two bodies authorized the existing joint study committee to "proceed with the project for selection of an architect, preparation of preliminary plans and specifications, financing, site and other related details and present the same to both bodies for final approval."

Votes by both bodies were considered surprising — the council an overwhelming 16-3 margin and the county board by a narrow 25-20 margin.

Ready in Month

No additional funds were provided the joint study committee but County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, said the information asked for in the action would be ready within a month.

Lack of agreement over how far to go nearly killed the project as both aldermen and supervisors demanded more information on financing and space allocation before committing themselves to proceed.

Ald. John Ayers, (12th) urged that the questions of how the building would be financed, how much space would be used by each body and the exact site, be treated as side lights to the major question of whether there should be a joint venture.

Financing Matter

Ninth Ward Ald. James Bethke disputed that financing was a side issue. "Until I have more information on financing, I will have to vote against it," he said.

Ayers contended that specific costs figures were not possible until actual building plans were drawn. "If the go-ahead is given tonight," Ayers said, "the project can still be stopped by either body at any time."

Bethke noted the study had been in progress for several months without "even a decision on space needs. If we do proceed, we better get down to earnest work. We should stop playing games."

The Opposition

County board opposition was led by Kaukauna and Kimberly supervisors.

Both Supvs. Sylvester Lenz, Kimberly, and Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, charged that favorable action Tuesday night would put the project "beyond the point of no return."

Lenz said, "I can't burden the people of Kimberly with this expense."

DeLaHunt also argued that the financial arrangements should be made clear before taking a vote. He also questioned what was meant by the term "jointly" in the motion to ## Heart Transplants? Theda Clark to be Regional Medical Center?

BY FEEN SMITH Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH—Theda Clark Memorial Hospital's new $5.2 million addition will be in full use by late summer of this year and its expanded health services will be available as a regional medical center, capable of major organ transplants.

"Total patient care to match the needs and growth of this community and to provide highly specialized care here and for the surrounding area will be in full operation by August," Gerald L. Aldridge, hospital administrator, recently told the Neenah Club.

"Rapid growth in the population in Neenah-Menasha and the Fox River Valley prompted us to update our 20-year master plan in 1966," Aldridge said. "The 1963 addition, we had hoped, would last us until 1970 but the board of trustees of your hospital was aware of the changing picture and moved to meet it.

"They saw that Neenah and Menasha and the surrounding area was in the center of one of the fastest growing areas in the state, increasing numbers of people who once left the area for specialized medical services began to use the services here and a rapidly growing number outside the area were looking to Theda Clark Hospital for specialization in diagnosis and medical care," the administrator noted.

The board of trustees has the full responsibility for the hospital's conduct, including the physicians, he added.

66 Doctors

Its projections have been corroborated by the growth of professional staff. Twenty-eight doctors were on the staff in 1960 and today there are 66 doctors, including 12 general practitioners and 54 specialists. Aldridge said that six new specialists are expected to join the staff this year.

When the new addition is complete, Theda Clark will have a capacity of 525 beds, a new surgery unit on the ground floor, intensive care area on the first floor, pediatrics and an all-faiths chapel on the second floor and patients on the third through sixth floors.

During the construction, Aldridge said the hospital has continued to plan and train staff for the new concepts in medical science incorporated in the new addition.

The new surgery suite, 24 by 32 feet is designed to hold 20 doctors and assistants, equipped with laminar air flow walls (the first of its kind in the United States) and instrumented to perform large organ transplants, such as kidneys and hearts.

Remodeling will provide a covered ambulance entrance and emergency area where the surgery suite is now located. An expanded out-patient department will share the added space with orthopedic treatment rooms. The burn center will be located in this area.

Jaycees Take Poll Survey in Brillion Discloses Need for Parking, Play Areas

BRILLION — Results of a community development program survey conducted recently by the Jaycees here indicate a concern about neighboring play areas for youngsters, downtown parking facilities, the appearance of Spring Creek and the lack of public rest rooms in the business district.

Some 155 residents felt the need for water floridation and 123 ruled against it.

The survey was conducted to set guidelines for future Jaycee projects, according to Don Wordell chairman.

Teen-agers are provided with enough dances, according to 145 citizens while 130 think not.

Choice Available

Christmas caroling, concerts, music and decorations all received favorable ratings. A choice of excellent, good, average, below average or poor were available in most instances on the survey.

A need for recreational opportunities for children, teens, adults and the elderly was indicated strongly. It is expected that this need will be fulfilled when the city's community recreation building is completed in a year.

Residents favor an exclusive room in the recreation center for teen-agers by a margin of better than two to one, according to the survey.

Topics concerning Christmas spirit, picnic areas, garbage containers, access, flower beds, playground equipment, pavilion and open water areas were also included in the survey.

WE'RE VERY SORRY.

But we couldn't get Gina Lollobrigida to have an affair with Shelley Winters.

And we couldn't get Phil Silvers to fall in love with Peter Lawford. ("I'm fond of him," said Silvers, "But I just don't love him.")

And neither one of them would make a pass at Telly Savalas.

So we had to make a picture — where the men only like women... and the women only dig men.

Yes, it seems we've made an "old fashioned" picture (remember them?) where you'd be laughing one minute and crying the next?

Try us for an hour and fifty-two minutes. If this isn't one of the funniest pictures you've ever seen... if you haven't gotten more laughs than you've had in years... ask the manager for my money back.

Then you'll really get laughs.

Lack of Federal Income Tax Doesn't Mean Same for State

This is one of a series of three articles written by a widely known tax authority concerning the problems of the Wisconsin income tax payer. The series is based on typical problems presented to the author in his practice as a certified public accountant.

By NORMAN E. SCHLEY
For The Associated Press
You may have prepared your federal income tax return and find that no tax is due. Don't consin total income when reduced by the $1,000 itemized deductions produce a gross tax of $27.70 less the $15 exemption.

More Torment
Modifications continue to torment the Wisconsin taxpayer and dilute the advantages of the state simplified return. Until legislation and the passage of time corrects this situation, Wisconsin taxpayers must carefully review Schedule M to determine whether they are subject to "additions" or "subtractions" from federal income.

Briefly stated modifications should be reported as follows:
1. As additional income where interest has been received on state or municipal obligations and as subtractions where interest has been received on U.S. obligations.
2. As additions to federal income where there were losses on disposition of tangible property, or on business operations located outside Wisconsin and as subtraction where there have been gains.
3. Additions or subtractions may become reportable depending on modifications to distributable shares of partnership, estate or trust income.

4. The excess of federal adjusted basis over Wisconsin adjusted basis of constant basis assets disposed of will produce additions to federal income while subtractions are in order for the excess of Wisconsin adjusted basis.
5. Additions for the amortization of excess of federal adjusted basis over Wisconsin adjusted basis of changing basis assets and as subtractions, amortization of excess of Wisconsin adjusted basis over federal adjusted basis. (In both items No. 4 and No. 5 use Schedule T.)

6. Federal net operating loss carry over produces additions while Wisconsin operating loss carry forward produces subtractions.
7. Additions must also be reported for federal loss carry over from 1964 and prior years, for non-recognized gain on sale of residence (if new residence is located outside Wisconsin) while subtractions are in order for retirement benefits received from Wisconsin state teachers and Milwaukee city and county retirement fund and military pay (not in excess of $1,000). Additions and subtractions may also be reportable by those using Subchapter S of the IRC in determining taxable income for a corporation.

By the way—all Wisconsin taxpayers must report any gifts made during the year with a value $1,000 or more stop now! You may owe state income taxes even if your federal returns show "no tax."

A single taxpayer, age 65 or older, with an income of $1,100 need not prepare a federal return since his exemption is $1,200. On the other hand this taxpayer will owe the state $7.30 if using standard deduction. The $1,100 of income is reduced to $800 by the standard deduction resulting in a gross tax of $22.30 which in turn is credited with a $15 exemption.

As another example, because of the difference in state and federal law relating to capital gains, a taxpayer age 65 or older with dividend and interest income of $1,200 plus $800 of capital gains will wind up with no U.S. tax but will owe the state $12.70. Under federal rules only $400 of the capital gain is taxable while the entire capital gain amount must be included in computing the Wisconsin tax.

For those interested—assume $1,000 of itemized expense—the federal net income will amount to only $600 clearly covered by the $1,200 exemption. But on the state return the "total federal income" of $1,600 must be increased by a "modification" of $400. The resulting $2,000 Wis-

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, March 12, the 71st day of 1969. There are 294 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1938, German forces invaded Austria.

In 1664, New Jersey became a British colony as King Charles II made a land grant to his brother James, the Duke of York.

In 1912, the first parachute jump from an airplane was made—by Army Capt. Albert Berry at Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

Also in 1912, the first troop of the Girl Scouts of America was organized, in Atlanta, Ga.

In 1940, a peace treaty was signed in Moscow by the Soviet Union and Finland.

In 1947, President Harry S. Truman established what became known as the "Truman Doctrine" by proposing U.S. aid to Greece and Turkey.

Ten years ago: President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent a special message to Congress asking for bigger U.S. contributions to the World Bank and to the International Monetary Fund.

Five years ago: The United States and Panama were reported to have agreed on a formula to end a bitter Panama Canal Zone dispute.

One year ago: Independence was proclaimed by the former British island of Mauritius in the Indian Ocean.
